PRISON MUTINY IS ENDED

NORTH BEAVER YOUTH IS HUNTING ACCIDENT VICTIM ON THURSDAY

John R. Miller, 17, Instantly Killed As Shotgun Is Discharged Accidentally

Accident Occurs As He Is Crossing Fence On Farm While Hunting

John R. Miller, aged 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Miller of North Beaver township, near Mt. Jackson, was the victim of the first hunting fatality of the present season, when his shotgun was accidentally discharged Thursday afternoon, as he was climbing over a rail fence on his father's farm, while hunting rabbits with a number of boy friends of the district.

The discharge of the shotgun struck him in the head, just behind the left ear, tearing off a considerable part of the head and causing instant death.

Hunting Rabbits

In company with Wylie Craig, Harry and Jeff McClelland, neighboring boy friends, the victim of the unfortunate hunting accident, was spending the afternoon hunting rabbits on the Miller farm.

His three companions were slightly in the lead, having crossed the rail fence, the scene of the fatal accident, just ahead of him. They did not see the actual occurrence, which took place about 3:30 o'clock.

It is thought that as he was getting over the fence, that he probably had the barrel of his shotgun in his hand and that as he was in the act of getting over, that the trigger of the gun caught in the fence and caused the discharge of the gun.

Hearing the shot, the three com-

South Side Places Of Business Are Visited By Burglars; Get Some Loot

Three stores were robbed during the early morning hours of Thanksgiving and money, jewelry, valuable papers, stamps, grocery supplies and candy taken. Entrance was effected in each instance through a window.

At the store of P. G. Graybowsky, 1601 Moravia street, entrance was effected by breaking a front window of the place. Evidently, the thief was injured in getting in through the window, as there was blood on it. Three dollars worth of stamps were taken.

S. Korcuszko, 333 West Miller avenue, reported Thursday morning that his place had been entered during the night. Officers found that entrance was effected through a cellar window. About $4 in change, twelve pounds of coffee, several cans of tea, meat and candy were taken at this place.

Carol Not Ready To Return To Roumania, Will Await Events

Former Crown Prince Carol Refuses To Make Statement On Bratianu's Death

Denies Having Received Peasant Invitation To Return To Bucharest

By WILLIAM P. CARNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1927, International News Service, Inc.)

PARIS, Nov. 25. — "Premier Bratianu's death does not mean my immediate return to Roumania," former Crown Prince Carol told International News Service today. "You can see that I am not making any hurried preparations for returning to Bucharest as you may have thought."

The ex-crown prince, who is the storm center of Roumania's political strife in which six-year-old King Michael's throne is the stake, received the correspondent at his chateau. On account of the early hour Carol was not yet dressed for the day and wore only his pajamas. He sat in the breakfast room sipping a cup of coffee and with a pile of Paris newspapers on the table before him.

Carol's attention was called to a report printed in a morning newspaper that the peasant party had sent him an invitation to return to his native land. Asked about this report, the former crown prince said:

Will Await Events.

"I must still await further events in Roumania. The morning press says that the peasants party has sent me an invitation to return at once. I have not seen any such invitation.

"The conditions which I recently outlined to you regarding my return to Roumania cannot be worked out so soon after M. Bratianu's death. I prefer to make no predictions for the future. But any decisive move on my part is a matter of days, not a matter of hours.

"Whether I return to Roumania as king or a member fo the council of regents or simply as Prince Carol will not be decided until I arrive in Bucharest."

Carol seemed pleased with the general situation and the outlook; also, with the attitude of the French press towards him. He drank a second cup of coffee and smoked a cigarette.

"Heaven knows how many newspaper men drove out here last night," Carol added with a smile. "The gatekeeper tells me there was a regular parade of automobiles outside the gates. But I refused to see them as I preferred not to make any comment upon M. Bratianu's death right now."

GANG LEADER IS VICTIM OF WOUNDS

Serious Situation In Chicago As Rival Gangsters Continue Warfare

CHICAGO, Nov. 25. — Bombs replaced gangster guns in the last twelve-hour developments on the Chicago "front" and the home of Peter J. Spingola, power, in the City Hall and indirectly connected with prominent gangsters, fell in ruins.

Police attributed the bombing to members of a faction who decided Spingola had not exerted sufficient political influence in their behalf. A sister of the City Hall politician married Angelo Genna, notorious reckeeteer. Henry Spingola, brother of Peter, was slain in a gangster war.

The bombing followed the slaying yesterday of Arthur G. Hartz, alleged prohibition snooper. Hartz' body, bullet riddled, was discovered on the banks of the drainage canal.

James Cole, gang leader and terrorist, died late yesterday of wounds received when he engaged with police in a gun battle.

Two alleged gambling and vice houses have been bombed in the last few days when owners refused to discontinue operating in territory controlled by "Scarface Al" Capone, generalissimo of the South Side hoodlums.

Fear Civil War In Roumania As Bratianu Dies

Flames Of Hatred And Political Intrigue Stir Balkan States Today

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Nov. 25—Flames of hatred and political intrigue, involving indirectly two European continental powers—Italy and France—are sweeping the Balkans today.

With the death of Premier Bratianu, "strong man of Roumania," a new struggle is opening for control of the Bucharest Government and it is believed in many quarters that the return of former Crown Prince Carol has been hastened. Fears are felt that bloodshed, perhaps civil war may follow.

Advices from Belgrade said that tense feeling has been aroused by the new treaty of alliance between Italy and Albania, by which Italy is pledged to aid Albania if Jugoslavia should make war against her Balkan neighbor. The Italian-Albanian treaty, which was signed at Tirana on Tuesday, is expected to hasten ratification of the Franco-Jugoslav pact, which is now before the Jugoslav parliament.

Anti-Roumanian demonstrations are again reported from Bulgaria as the alleged persecution of Bulgarian citizens by Roumanians in Dobrudja.

Soviet Russia is keeping a watchful eye upon the Balkans, especially upon Roumania and will seize the first opportunity to restore Bessarabia, which Roumania took from Russia after the war.

Woman Witness Is Hysterical At Remus Trial

Sister Of George Remus Becomes Hysterical Waiting For Call To Testify

REMUS OBJECTS TO IMPORTANT QUESTION

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURTHOUSE, CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Anna Ryerson, sister of George Remuse, on trial for the murder of his wife, Imogene, became hysterical in an ante-room of the criminal court today when she was called to the stand as a witness by the state.

Judge Chester R. Shook left the bench and went into consultation with attorneys for both sides.

After a fifteen minute wait, Mrs. Ryerson was still in no condition to testify and John Jacob Schmitt, deputy clerk took the stand.

Schmitt was asked if he had any recollection of issuing subpoenaes in the Remus divorce case which was to have been tried on the morning of October 6, the day Remus shot and killed his wife.

"Remus the lawyer," jumped to his feet objecting to the question and the court excused the jury from the room while the defendant voiced his objections in a loud voice.

Dewey Avenue Home Damaged

Fire Causes Loss Of $1,100 Or More On Thursday Morning

Firemen of the city answered two fire calls Thanksgiving Day. The first of the calls was received at 2 a. m., calling them to the property of Tony DiFarona, located at 1123-1125 Dewey avenue. The loss sustained was about $1,100 and is covered by insurance. The people residing in the property had gone away for the Thanksgiving season and there was no fire in the place. It is believed that the fire originated from some unknown cause in the ceiling over the kitchen.

The second alarm at 7:40 a. m. called the firemen to the bake shop of Mrs. R. Bullano, rear 905 South Mercer street. The fire was caused by an iron smoke stack put up through the roof of the building, without the required protecting tile. It set the tar paper roof on fire. The loss was about $75.

PRISONERS SURRENDER AFTER OUTBREAK WHICH COST LIVES OF 10 MEN

Biggest Wholesale Prison Delivery Plot In U. S. History Fails

Folsom Prison In California Is Scene Of Costly Mutinous Outbreak

By CLEM WHITAKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., Nov. 25.—Folsom prison's "big threat", characterized by penitentiary officials as the greatest and most sanguinary attempt at a wholesale prison delivery in the history of the United States, is at an end.

At eight o'clock this morning, little more than an hour after first peace overtures were started, all of the prisoners were reported back in their cells and locked up.

Guards Released

The four guards who had been held captive by the prisoners throughout the siege walked from the old cell block apparently unharmed, but their faces pale and drawn from 24 hours of constant danger.

The backs of their uniforms were white and splotched, indicating that they had rolled on the whitewashed floors while scuffling with the convicts during the outbreak.

Dr. P. W. Day, Folsom prison physician, who has been held captive since he went in yesterday to minister to the injured, came out for a minute to tell prison officials that there were seven dead in the cell house and about 30 wounded, of whom 15 would require amputations. The revelation that eight were dead in the cell house brought the total death toll to 10, two guards having died.

Turnkey Shot

In addition to the eight convicts reported killed by Dr. Day, and the 30 wounded prisoners, the big prison break cost the lives of Ray Singleton, turnkey, who was shot down when the outbreak started, and Charles Glase, oldest guard at the penitentiary, who died of heart failure during the excitement of the attack.

The prison employes wounded during the fray are:

Guard Walter Neil, shot through the leg; Barnet Huse, secretary to Warden Smith, bullet wound in leg; Al Dealey, guard, stabbed in the

Alienists Say Remus Is Sane

Report Is Submitted At Trial In Cincinnati By Three Alienists

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURTHOUSE, CINCINNATI, Nov. 25—A report of three alienists pertaining to the sanity of George Remus at the time he shot and killed his wife, Imogene, was presented to Judge Chester R. Shook at the trial of Remus for murder this afternoon but was not put into the official court record because of objections entered by the defense.

Remus was not insane at the time he killed Mrs. Remus in a towering rage in Eden Park, the alienists ruled, it is understood.

The alienists, Doctors David D. Wolfstein, E. A. Baber and Charles Kleley, were appointed by the court to observe Remus and they have been doing so in court for days.

Remus has contended he was insane when the murder was committed.

"Transitory maniacal insanity," has been his defense. He contends he was sane before the crime, "transitorally insane when his mind exploded" at the moment of the killing and sane afterwards.

Smith Fatally Hurt When Auto Drops From Overhead Bridge

THIRD MAN ESCAPES WITH SLIGHT CUT

Russell Prigo, 34, this city, was instantly killed; John Smith, married, Altoona, probably fatally injured, and Thomas Langdon escaped with a lacerated hand when Prigo's automobile took a 47-foot perpendicular drop from the overhead railroad bridge at 1 a. m. Thanksgiving day at Kittanning. Prigo's body is at the Kelley morgue, this city. Smith is in a Kittanning hospital.

According to reports received here Prigo was operating the car, followed by a taxicab toward Kittanning.

Suddenly the taxicab driver saw the Prigo machine disappear.

When he reached the spot, he saw the Prigo machine beneath the bridge.

Prigo was dead when rescuers arrived. Smith is believed dying but Langdon sustained only a cut hand.

Efforts are being made to communicate with Prigo's relatives in St. Louis.

Officers Locate Huge Still On Rebecca Street

Another giant still fell today, the victim of the hooch-hunting proclivities of County Detective William G. Fleming and his chief sniffer, Constable James Ellison. The still, 25 gallon in size was seized just before noon in the home of Frank Borada, rear of 1024 Rebecca street. With it were seized 600 gallons of mash and about 4 gallons of finished product.

The gentle art of moonshining is fraught with many perils these days, due to the vigilance of the enforcement officers and the trick is to hide the still where prying eyes will not see it. Mr. Borada conceived the idea of hiding it in a false cellar, back of a jelly cupboard. It was no use, the officers found it and Mr. Borada is with the sheriff today, awaiting bail on a charge of manufacturing liquor.

The turkey lies in a shattered wreck, its bones picked clean to the white, and the sad remains of the wings and neck, will be served in a hash tonight. For I know full well that we're going to have, the post-Thanksgiving clash, over serving the wings and the other parts, in a potpourri called hash. They take what's left of the once proud Turk, and add some of this and that, a piece of veal and a spud or two, and the brim of a derby hat, a little spice, and some celery, some salt and a carrot or two, and presto change, they are serving up, a mysterious thickened brew. You may call it hash, or whatever you please, but I never can think your way, for never a hash that was fit to eat, its forty-seven today.

Being unable to locate any doctors, he then took the boy home. The boy was apparently not injured to any great extent.

PRISONERS SURRENDER AFTER RIOT WHICH COST LIVES OF TEN

shoulder; James Gorhanson, a guard, stabbed and slashed about the head and body; A. Massick, veteran guard, clubbed with a revolver.

A suggestion from one of the prisoners that Ed. Bathurst, prison engineer and guard, be sent in to get his weapon at the hospital wicket, was not carried out, as the guns were all passed out before the plan could be placed in effect.

Taking Count of Prisoners

The three men who conducted the negotiations with the convicts were Warden Smith, Captain of Guards Larkin, and Johnston, former warden. All of the guns, knives and ammunition were surrendered to them by the captive guards as they were released.

Only three revolvers were found. It is believed that there are rifles cached in the cell block.

Shortly before nine o'clock Warden Smith started taking the count of the prisoners. When the count is completed it will be known definitely whether all of the men have returned to their cells.

One of the contributing causes to the early truce, it was declared by Johnston, was a threat sent in over the telephone to the convicts that the water in the cell house would be turned off.

Convicts Are Shot Down

All the convict dead and wounded were mowed down shortly before dusk yesterday when the army of civilians, prison guards, police and sheriff's deputies swept the cell house with rifle fire in retaliation for the shooting of Barnett Huse, secretary to the warden, who was wounded in the leg.

The four guards released today after about 24 hours of captivity are: Emory L. Campbell, Bob McCreary, Charles Bengler and Lawrence Purcell. None was injured.

Upon their release the four men went into conference with Warden Smith and prison and state officials, who are preparing to launch their investigation into the circumstances leading up to the bloody warfare.

Warden Court Smith, speaking from the conference room, told International News Service that "at least four ringleaders of the convicts are known". He did not divulge their names. These men will be questioned, he said, as soon as order is completely restored in the prison.

Truce Was Effected

FOLSOM STATE PRISON, Cal., Nov. 25.—A truce was effected today with the 1,200 mutinous prisoners who held sway in a section of the state prison since shortly before noon yesterday.

Under the terms of the truce a surrender of the prisoners was effected without further bloodshed. The uprising of the prisoners already had cost nine lives.

The prison mutiny and attempted wholesale delivery came to a sudden and dramatic climax at 7:30 o'clock this morning when the prisoners, after negotiating with Warden Court Smith, accepted the warden's terms and agreed to lay down their guns.

The truce overture was made by the convicts just as the troops and guards without were drawn up prepared to attack.

The first hint of peace came in a telephone message to Warden Smith from an unnamed convict.

Terms of Surrender

About seven o'clock one knife, a revolver and some ammunition was passed by the prisoners to the captive guards and relayed by them to the guards outside.

The warden said the convict who acted as spokesman for the group stated that the terms of their surrender were that they "not be beaten, abused or starved".

Warden Smith sent back word that the leaders in the attempted break would be placed in solitary confinement with one meal a day.

These conditions apparently were accepted.

Conclusive evidence that the most sensational break in Folsom's history has ended came when the national guardsmen marched to the prison arsenal and turned in their ammunition.

Many Victims

FOLSOM PRISON, Cal., Nov. 25.—Nine men had been killed, five were reported to be dying and 17 others were wounded during the battle here between prisoners and officers, a check of casualties disclosed early today. The sensational attempted jailbreak began yesterday and the prisoners, still in possession of two buildings within the prison walls, continued to defy the attacking forces for a time early today.

The Dead:

Ray Singleton, a guard, stabbed and shot to death.

Charles A. Giles, gate guard, died of heart failure during the height of the battle.

Seven unidentified prisoners.

The Wounded:

Charles Gorhansen, a guard, seriously stabbed; may die,

Would Increase Assistant City Engineer's Pay

Councilman Louis Genkinger, during regular council meeting, held in the city building today, said that in his belief a raise in salary for the assistant city engineer would solve a situation that has time and again effected the work of the department.

There have been three city engineer assistants during the past year, two of whom resigned to accept more lucrative positions.

Genkinger told his colleagues today that providing a change could be made in the method of payment the city might retain the present incumbent, Mr. Hoskins.

The present assistant engineer receives $1,920 annually, with the ordinance calling for a raise of $120 each year for a four-year period.

Genkinger today presented his plan to keep the assistant here by instructing the city solicitor to write a bill making his salary $200 each month.

The ordinance will be presented for councilmanic action in the near future.

POLLYANNA.

Has Important Role In Coming Senior High Play

ELMER WILLIAMS

Elmer Williams will appear in the production of "Pollyanna" next week at the senior high school. He will be remembered as the young man chosen after the elimination contests to represent the local high school at the tri-county oratorical contest last year. He has a pleasing voice and excellent stage presence.

Williams' numerous friends, students and adults, will remember that he played the lead in a comedy. "Tom Changes the Calendar," several years ago at the Benjamin Franklin junior high school and he was cast for the role of Judge Laughing Gass in the recent Quota club musical comedy, "Punchinello".

In "Pollyanna" Mr. Williams will appear as John Pendleton, Esq., the cynical bachelor whom the orphan Pollyanna through her gift of joy charms back to love and normal living. The transformation of the character of the "hermit" calls for clever dramatic interpretation, and Mr. Williams in the rehearsals shows remarkable skill in bringing the old recluse out of his shell by degrees.

A gown of powder blue georgette was worn by the bride, and her corsage was of roses and lilies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Abrams of Pittsburgh, were the attendants, the latter wearing rose chiffon velvet, with a dresden corsage.

A wedding dinner for 32 guests was served at the home of the grooms parents on Perrysville avenue.

Dispensing with a wedding trip for the present they will reside on Wallace avenue, this city.

Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Thomas Sanfilippo, Oak street entertained Thanksgiving day in honor of the fiftieth birthday of her husband. Dinner was served at noon, with covers arranged for 12 guests. A large birthday cake formed the centerpiece. Later a theatre party was enjoyed.

Those present were Gus Sanfilippo, Thomas Sanfilippo, Jr., Miss Carrie Sanfilippo, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanfilippo, and son Thomas Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sanfilippo, and daughter Rosetta, and the honor guest who was the recipient of many gifts.

Evangelist Scores Religion As Cloak

Evangelist Weston at the Dewey Avenue Free Methodist church last night in a soul searching sermon on "Inward Religion" strongly condemned any form of surface religion without a change of heart.

Revival services at the Dewey Avenue church continues to attract good crowds and a real interest in spiritual uplift is being manifested.

ZEST FOR ADVENTURE

COMMANDER GEORGE M. DYOTT, well known explorer, has been getting up an expedition to go into the Brazilian wilds in search of Col. P. H. Fawcett who has been missing for some time. Dyott's searching party is to be small. The personnel was made up, except for one more man, some time ago. Recently Dyott advertised for a man to fill this vacant position.

In making public this need, Commander Dyott pointed out the hardships and dangers that will be encountered. He asked for a man of sound health, courage, great endurance. He specified that the applicant ought to be a small rather than a large man, because he would fit better in a canoe and would be better able to stand the exploring life. Exploring experience was not required, but willingness to obey orders implicitly was named as essential. The recompense is small.

From many points of view the job might not be regarded as at all attractive. Yet there have been 15,000 applications for it. A tropical wilderness, hostile Indians, wild animals, fever, apparently are not enough to obscure the lure of exploring.

It has a perennial fascination for those who go and for those who stay at home. There are probably several times 15,000 people whose thoughts skipped away to a land of imaginary romance, adventure and daring as they read that want ad. A lot of people who would never go so far as to make formal application for the job would give themselves the luxury and excitement of the silent wish, "Boy! I'd like to go!"

THE GROWING SPORT

THE college football season of 1927 has been such a gigantic success in many ways that the game seems to be more firmly entrenched in the educational system than ever. Never in the history of American amateur football were so many teams of high class developed as this year. Never did so many spectators withness the games—therefore never was so much money spent. It needs no nice calculation to discover that football drew millions of people and millions of dollars this year.

More than a hundred teams have been regarded, this season, as of enough importance to have their weekly scores printed in the metropolitan newspapers. Time was when the playing of football was confined to a few Eastern colleges. Today every section has its conference and every state has a number of teams.

Every year finds the game more interesting to more people. Frequent upsets have shown that big schools have no monopoly over champion teams and that, as a whole, the teams are playing better ball. Even the rules committees have failed to take the fight and interest out of the sport.

The success of the season makes inevitable another post-season attack upon the sport from faculty members, who complain that the effect of intercollegiate football on the undergraduate body is a "distortion of values," with the result that academic work is relegated to a position of secondary importance. The public will hear again that the game has been taken out of the hands of the undergraduates and put into the hands of a staff of professional coaches and graduate committees and that it is no longer a sport that is played for its own sake.

For a month or two all guns will be leveled at the great college sport, but when September rolls around once more it will find more and better football teams, more stadiums, more fans and more money waiting to be converted into gate receipts.

WORK AS THE SALVATION OF THE WORLD

HENRY FORD has expressed views at various times which have been received with incredulity, but when he declares that work is the salvation of the world he comes very near striking the bull's-eye.

In the opinion of the noted manufacturer it is only through work that world peace may be established, because unemployment and idleness breed war and revolution. He points to what has been accomplished by Germany since the close of the conflict, and feels that work, and plenty of it, will eventually save Russia and China.

"The nations that apply themselves to hard work," he declares, "must succeed and make progress." What he says regarding nations applies to individuals. Some of the ablest penologists have come to the conclusion that idleness is the most prolific source of crime. Confirmed criminals are usually men who are willing to do an honest day's labor.

Mr. Ford is of the opinion that American prosperity will continue to grow. There will be lulls, times when certain numbers of those who wish employment may be unable to find it, but the naturally industrious nature of Americans will have a tendency to constant improvement. This is the history of pioneer peoples, and it has never been exemplified to a higher degree than with the citizens of the United States.

Trotzky has been either exiled or executed once more; and judging from precedent, we expect to hear any day now that he's governing Russia again.

Yes, we Americans are growing rather tolerant of kings lately; but then, just consider what we do to the king's English.

There is said to be a good deal of imposition on deaf and dumb asylums these days. A lot of normal people want to get into a place where it's quiet.

Congressmen complain that Washington is swarming with lobbyists, and lobbyists say, "If it wasn't for us, they'd never do anything."

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:35. Sun rises tomorrow 7:00.

We read where some birds were arrested for selling big cheeses that were found to be stuffed with mashed potatoes. Those who bought it tried to murder the cook who sold it of course. It takes a smart person to even know his cheese these days.

Dr. Clinton Howard chairman of the United Committee for Law Enforcement declares best people cannot lead in politics. The good people are in the majority and the bad rule. This gentleman ought to know what he is talking about and the question now is what are you going to do about it?

A machine has been invented that will sell soda water at a fountain and you can get any flavor in less than eight seconds and it will be served without any wise cracks that go with soft drinks now free. It ought to be a great thing and think of the speakeasies that will use it to escape ownership and identification. One can be set out in a field and no one will know who owns it.

Reduction of the national income taxes will help everybody. Those who do not pay any such tax may think it will not help them, but it will. All taxes are paid by everybody in the long run.

It was our pleasure to attend that great Republican meeting in Harrisburg this week. About 1,000 men were at this meeting and a great many of the outstanding men of the nation were there and could be approached easily by anyone so desiring. We are safe in saying we think that no other such meeting ever took place in Pennsylvania. It was worth going to see and attend. We have an idea if the people of Pennsylvania got better acquainted with the men who hold the high offices in this state there would be a better understanding. Every citizen should at least make it his or her business to visit the capitol at Harrisburg. All who do this will come away feeling that they have some responsibility in the government of the great Keystone State.

Whether a wife murderer at Cincinnati used his right hand or his left hand in holding the gun which shot her, may be quite an item in the trial of the murder in spite of the fact he himself admits he killed her. That's the law in it.

Along about this time of the year when we read about the grand meals to be or are served in the jails on holidays we feel we would like to be in jail.

A scientist in Australia declares that man is completing a cycle from the ape to an angel. We do not care what he thinks he is doing so long as he does not cast any reflections on us.

A six year term is wanted for the president of Mexico. Every time they have a campaign for president in that unhappy land they kill most of 'em off before election day, so no doubt a six year term will at least stave off some of the killings for a time at least.

Next week the Senate of the United States, which has a membership of less than 100 men will decide whether Pennsylvania with its ten million of people has elected a United States senator or not. Some of the senators have personal reason for not wanting a Republican in the senate from Pennsylvania and others in that body have no use for any of the senators already in.

More turkeys and chickens were stolen before Thanksgiving in Mercer county this year than ever before. It looks as if more people wanted something to be thankful for. We may be wrong about that.

A Columbia University Professor comes out with the statement that it takes at least two hundred dollars a year to dress a working girl. We would like to know what he knows about dressing a working girl. Personally we think the average working girl knows her clothes when it comes to dressing. They all look like they were going to a party when they are on their way to work.

If styles have been an indication the women have had their fling.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

During the first few days in camp the young recruit was the victim of so many practical jokes that he doubted all men and their motives. One night while he was on guard the tall figure of one of the officers loomed up in the darkness before him.

"Who goes there?" he challenged.

"Major Moses," replied the officer.

The recruit scented a new joke.

"Glad to meet you Moses," he said cheerfully. "Advance and give the ten commandments."

The Joneses had become suddenly rich and had employed a private tutor for their young son, Willie. One day Mrs. Jones remarked to a visitor: "Ya-as, Willie is studying French and algebra now. Willie, won't you please tell the lady how to say 'good morning' in algebra?"

DAD'S SOUP

"Say, do you call this bean soup?"
"The cook does."
"Why, the bean in this soup isn't big enough to flavor it."
"She isn't supposed to flavor it. She is just supposed to christen it."

The United States has one horse or mule for every 3.3 of its soldiers. We wonder if it wouldn't be possible to buy some flivvers or bicycles for the odd.3 soldiers that are without transportation.

Russia take a lesson. Venezuela, which little more than 20 years ago was blockaded by three European powers to compel payment of its debt, has paid off more than three-quarters of its national debt since 1909, and now has almost enough money to pay the balance off. This is the result of freedom from revolution and royalties from oil. Mexico can do likewise if she wants to.

Now maybe these beauty shows are not the best things for girls. Two from Pittsburgh who participated in the last show are missing, and the same thing is true from other cities.

This is the reverse order but it seems to work. A man we know who is sending a son to college is wearing the son's last year's clothing.

Ruth Snyder and her corset salesman lover Henry Judd Gray must die says the supreme court of New York State. Even that body, gallant as it is, could not find a reason for setting aside the verdict of the trial court. It is up to Governor Smith now and everyone will wait to see what he will do. Looks like there might be a roasting party in New York before many weeks.

These people who are always deciding what a man or woman should wear and what it costs to properly clothe them give us a good laugh. We have just read where one has come out with a statement that the average American working girl needs $250 to dress herself, but we wonder where there is a girl who can do it on that figure and really have something to wear.

Home life in this country is undergoing a great change and it won't be long now until automobiles have janitors instead of chauffeurs. It's coming every day.

This is the time of year when great attention is given publicity because of the graduation of stars of the football field, but you never hear anything about the good students lost by graduation, or the members of the debating team or the band. But how the football players are missed.

Modern progress is represented by the fact that in 1860 you couldn't shut off a dry sermon by pushing a button.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

Thanksgiving, and fortunately a majority of the 115,000,000 of us have spiritual and financial reasons for gratitude.

President Coolidge reminds us that we are prosperous, and our duty is to be economical and remain level-headed.

Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, richest state, advises people to pray for wisdom to use their prosperity wisely.

For one thing, every man should be thankful. A little while ago he had no existence. Now he is on earth and, for a few years at least, able to study this beautiful planet, inherit its wisdom and contemplate the outside universe.

Even if he goes back to nothingness, he should be thankful for his brief moment of consciousness.

Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her friend, Henry Judd Gray, murdered Mr. Snyder, who was in the way. The highest court says they must go to the chair in accordance with the jury verdict.

They will enter the death chamber through a little, narrow door and see the electric chair on the right near the wall with its side turned toward them, reporters with pencil and paper looking at them.

A strange meeting, at that little door, after their many other meetings. Which will go through the door first, what will they think? Or will fear mercifully stop thought, as the electric current stops it?

How shameful that a community calling itself civilized should kill a woman by electricity, degrading science by using it in official murder!

Modern miracles by science are less dramatic than old miracles by religious leaders. Millions believe that when Mohammed, hard pressed in battle, threw a handful of dust into the air the particles of dust were changed into angels on horseback that fought and won for him.

All eastern religions include among their miracles curing of individual lepers. But leprosy continued to conquer and claim fresh victims.

Science announces now that leprosy will cease to exist in the next generation, thanks to the use of chaulmoogra oil. That unromantic scientific miracle works to protect all lepers everywhere and to end leprosy.

New York's metropolitan area, within 40 miles of the city hall, has a population of 9,500,000.

Some day that area will contain 100,000,000 human beings. They will fly to work in the great industrial center, with individual buildings of 100,000 and more population, and in the afternoon fly back to their dwellings on hills and mountains.

Development of cheap power and better machinery will reduce the day's work to four hours, and the working week to four days, for all but thinkers.

German astronomers discover a new comet and a new star, in the constellation of Pisces, the fishes.

Invisible to the naked eye, the new star is so big that if a dozen worlds like ours fell toward it they would melt and disappear before striking the star, like snowflakes falling into a great furnace.

The new comet and star interest humans as little as the passing of a fast express interests the hop toad near the track.

Europe watches a war between Standard Oil of New York and the great British company, "Dutch Shell". The question is, who shall control Russian oil? You will not be surprised to hear that Standard Oil has it. "Dutch-Shell' is only trying to get it.

The House Ways and Means Committee votes to reduce income taxes by $250,000,000. The President objects. He would prefer taking Mr. Mellon's advice to reduce by $225,000,000 only. The majority of people probably decide with the President because of their confidence in Mr. Mellon. However, taxes are elastic, they can always be raised.

Dr. James Brown Scott, who has been honored by the University of Paris with the title of doctor honoris causa, is president of the American Institute of International Law and probably as expert and thoroughly informed a student of his subject as the United States has among its citizens. From the days while in Harvard, Berlin and Heidelberg universities, back in the '90s, down to the present time, he has been mastering the data and technique of his calling and doing this even when practicing law and organizing and administering law schools. For five years he was solicitor of the state department at Washington. He has served as secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, as a representative of the United States at The Hague peace conferences and as counselor to President Wilson at the Versailles conference.

MEN WHO ARE REALLY GREAT

Dr. Butler of Columbia University declared a while ago that there were no great men left in the world.

Of course there are plenty of famous men. Many movie stars are famous and there are other front-page notables.

"Fame is not equivalent to greatness," says Dr. Emil Ludwig. "Were this not so Chaplin would be much greater than Bergson."

There are men, however, who according to Mr. Ludwig are entitled to be called great and more so than Alexander, Caesar or Napoleon.

Judging by the character of what he did, solely, Lindbergh certainly has a right to this title.

Others adduced by Dr. Ludwig are George Bernard Shaw, among the literari, and Masaryk, of Czecho-Slovakia, who "created a people."

Those who he maintains are great in practical science are probably little known in this country, and include the German, Nernst, the Swede, Arrhenius, the Dane, Bohr, and the German, Plank.

Madam Curie of Paris belongs to the list of really great ones.

He also maintains "Nansen, Shackleton, Marconi and the Wright Brothers should be named."

Of Freud, he says: "Psychology possesses a master who is a personality, Sigmund Freud, the Austrian. Though I am averse to his teachings, I recognize wherever I go the decisive influence of his ingenious theories."

Einstein, the German, however, he ranks higher than Freud, and says that he has given science a shock such as it had scarcely received in three centuries.

He ranks Edison very high and says that just as all musicians of the Baroque Period were swallowed up by Johann Sebastian Bach, so Edison swallows up all his pupils.

As a sample of really great men, he adduced most especially the greatest theorist and the greatest practical genius of our day, the German and the American, Einstein and Edison.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NO MANGER DOGS PERMITTED.

Dr. W. F. Foshag headed an expedition sent out last Summer by the Smithsonian Institute of the United States and Harvard University, to systematically survey the mineral deposits of five Mexican states, including Quanajuato, Zacedecas, Durango, Chihuahua, and Sonora. Dr. Foshag was accompanied by Harry Berman of Harvard University, and they brought back about forty cases of specimans weighing two tons. These specimans have been turned over to the Smithsonian Institute, and include a group of fifteen gypsum crystals measuring as much as five and a half feet in length. It is planned to use these crystals in the reconstruction in the National Museum a section of the crystal caves from which the specimans came.

The mines surveyed by the Expedition are the oldest mines in North America. The workings of these mines have dated from 1558, and they have produced more than a billion pesos in silver alone, equivalent to about half a billion dollars, and greater in amount than produced from any other mining area in the world. These old Spanish mines have been 'n almost continuous operation for nearly four hundred years. Besides their age and wealth they are distinguished by two of the mining wonders of the world. These are two octagonal shafts sunk in the ground to a respective depth of 1200 and 1500 feet, measuring 30 and 40 feet in diameter. These shafts were sunk in the early 1800's, hand drilled, and with black powder as an explosive. They were made octagonal to permit eight windlasses to be operated at once. Thirty horses supplied the motor power for each windlass, and each windlass drew up sixteen bullheads of water, or the equivalent in silver ore at a time. The expedition was the second in a series designed to make for the first time a systematic survey of Mexican mineral deposits yet undertaken, for in spite of the vast wealth of Mexican mines, and the many years of mining in that country, no attempt has ever yet been made to describe systematically the mineralogy of the land. The Expedition received the warmest cooperation from the Secretary of Foreign Relations at Mexico City, which office corresponds to the United States Secretary of State.

When the vast resources of Mexico and the other Central American states are considered, together with the utter lack of business principles possessed by the citizens of these States, the statement so often made is manifestly true, that no Nation can deprive the world of the use of its natural resources forever, without interference on the part of Civilization.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

UGLY MAN

She is very pretty,
He is just a man!
She is very witty.
How it all began
Only they can answer,
Just a man is he,
Awkward as a dancer,
Nothing much to see.

Very bright her smile is,
Seldom does he smile.
Very smart her style is,
He seems out of style.
Strangers gaze and wonder
How it all began,
Did she make a blunder
Choosing such a man?

Man I'd say is never
Very much to see,
If God made him clever,
That's enough to be.
If He made him kindly,
Strong for every task,
Woman takes him blindly
Nothing more she'll ask.

Man, the lucky creature,

IMITATIONS

Visiting a great new motor ship, driven without the use of steam, I asked the captain, "But what are the smokestacks for?"

"Oh, those are just dummy funnels," he said. "They are used for one thing and another. Not for smoke to go through, since we have no smoke."

"But can't a ship go without funnels if she doesn't need them?"

"She could, yes. But she wouldn't look like a ship. The great motor yachts of the millionaires carry big funnels that are used for storage room. They help to make the thing look like what people are accustomed to expect in a ship."

* * *

Just so, when steamships were a novelty, all steamships carried tall masts and yards and sailship gear, so as "to make her look like a ship". People couldn't get used to a ship without such equipment for many years.

You remember the early automobiles and how they all wore dash-boards like buggies. It was shock enough to the public to take the horses off. The designers dared not make horseless carriages without dash-boards until the automobile had proved itself and the buggy became a curiosity.

Imitation leather is being manufactured now in enormous quantities. I am told by people who ought to know that many of the imitation leathers are far superior to genuine leather for almost every purpose. Yet the manufacturers of these leather-like products still find it necessary to make creases, cracks, pin-joints and pores in their fabrics, to make them resemble leather. These characteristics do not make the fabrics stronger, better, more beautiful. Quite the contrary. I think that all such excellent materials would be much more acceptable to the eye if they made no effort to imitate anything. But the public is accustomed to leather in certain places, and even though it knows it is not getting leather, but something much better, it must have the surface deception, just as it must have smokestacks on its smokeless ships.

* * *

Imitation stone or artificial stone still is made with imitation chisel marks on its surface, although nobody is supposed to be deceived by these markings.

How much more artistic and honest our civilization might be, if everything and every person would be itself and himself, without artificial markings, mannerisms or pretense!

Rome Cardinals Seriously Ill

Cardinals Bonzano And De Lai Both At Point Of Death, Reported

BONZANO RECENTLY IN UNITED STATES

(International News Service)

ROME, Nov. 25.—Cardinals Bonzano and De Lai, both of whom are seriously ill, suffered relapses today and their conditions were described as "almost hopeless".

Cardinal Bonzano underwent an operation for stomach ulcers on Nov. 19 and for a time seemed to be improving.

Cardinal De Lai recently suffered a breakdown from overwork and old age.

Giovanni Cardinal Bonzano was former nuncio to the United States and was papal legate to the Eucharistic congress in Chicago last year. He was born in 1867 and elevated to the cardinalate in 1922. He is an Italian.

Gaetano Cardinal De Lai, also an Italian, is bishop of Sabina and secretary of the Sacred Consistorial congregation. He was born in 1836 and made cardinal in 1889.

National Grange Convention Ready To Close Sessions

Adopt Many Important Resolutions At Meeting On Policies And Program

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 25.—Installation of officers and submission of reports by committees on resolutions, and program and policy, are scheduled to mark the final session here today of the National Grange's 61st annual convention.

A nationwide campaign opposing use of women's pictures in cigaret advertisements was launched by the Grange at a session Thursday night.

Resolution adopted by the Grange Thanksgiving day urges the U. S. government to take the lead in a move to "outlaw" war; favor private operation of water power, "subject to certain franchise limitations"; recommend a federal education subsidy for state schools providing 10 cents daily for each pupil and 50 cents for each teacher; supporting the American merchant marine and opposing any decrease of the federal income tax.

Endorsing the American merchant marine, the Grange felt that "keeping the American flag on the high seas is one of the most important factors to the American farmer", and asserted that "reports to the Grange have indicated that control of shipping by foreign interests causes a manipulation of rates to destroy any advantage American embargoes may give."

Opposition to any decrease in the federal income tax was based upon the belief that "the principal source of the federal government's monies come from income taxes and the national welfare would be endangered should this form of revenue be cut."

Tipple Damaged By Flames, Causes Miners To Be Idle

Britain Spends $100,000,000 A Year On Golf

London Area Alone Has 250 Clubs; Country Has 2,500 Organizations

England Now Has 1,800 Professionals; Membership In Clubs Averages 200

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 25—More that $100,000,000 is annually spent on golf in Britain.

The estimate made by a prominent club secretary is based on the computation that there are half a million golfers in the country and that each player annually expends between $150 and $250 on the game. It proves fully statements that golf is becoming one of the most popular of English games.

The number of golf clubs in Britain is estimated in round figures at 2,500 of which nearly 2,000 have private courses. The average membership is 200 with the record membership held by the Moor club at Rickmansworht just outside London with 1,100 members.

There are 250 clubs in the London area, the annual subscription running on an average from $40 to $60. Glasgow, one of the "homes" of golf has 255 clubs with entrance fees running from$5 to $50. Professionals belonging to the Professional Golfers association number 1,200 and the total number of professionals in the country is probably around 1,800, many of the smaller clubs being too poor to hire the services of such a man.

Golf finance has passed from cents to millions since the Edinburgh Burgess society, the oldest golf club with a continuous history passed in the year 1774 a resolution to engage a boy messenger, caddie and waiter.

The Jerusalem Chamber of Westminster Abbey takes its name from the cedar wood with which the walls are lined, and which is said to have been brought from Lebanon.

Peter's Adventures in Animal Land

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE RATTLER RATTLED

"B-R-R-R-R!" Again that threatening rattle. Faster and faster quivered that strange something just beyond the blackberry cluster; stonier grew that dreadful stare!

"Keep out of my brier patch," hissed a voice, and at the hateful sound suddenly Peter recovered his senses. Using all the will he had, he took his gaze from that glittering eye and jumped to one side—jumped just as far as he could, and only just in time. Swish! Long, glistening, dreadful, something much like the lash of a whip hurled through the air and landed, writhing, on the spot where the Boy had stood only a second before. Peter, so frightened that the hair stood up on the top of his head, watched a forked, thread-like tongue darting lightning-like over the ground, feeling for something it could not find.

"Missed you that time!" hissed the hateful voice, "but try, try again! That's my motto! I'll get you, yet!" Swiftly the long, glistening thing wound itself into coils, out from the center of which stared that glittering eye. Up came that something that Peter could now see was the tip of a tail. The tail began to quiver. Peter began to shiver. He was facing the terrible jaws of Mr. Rattlesnake—so close was that head Peter could even see the two sharp fangs in the top of its jaw. Then suddenly, just in time, Peter remembered something, and gave a sharp cry.

THE BOY BEGAN TO QUIVER. HE WAS FACING THE TERRIBLE JAWS OF MR. RATTLESNAKE.

"Don't strike, Mr. Rattlesnake! Don't strike! I am no enemy. I have the lizard's tail!"

It would be hard to imagine anyone more surprised than was Mr. Rattlesnake at Peter's words. His tail gave a wabbly little quiver and dropped out of sight. Down went his head, and back dropped his fangs, for of course no self-respecting serpent can keep his fangs up when his head is down. Mr. Rattlesnake stared up at Peter with that unwinking eye, just as glistening, to be sure, as it had been before, but there was such a comical expression about his wide open mouth, his jaws sagging with astonishment, that the Boy, in spite of his fear, had all he could do to keep from laughing. Plainly the Rattler was rattled.

Next — "Doubting Mr. Rattler's Sense of Honor."

An editor declares that the youth of today is far ahead of those of previous generations. He remembers what youth was when he was a boy.

Prince Of Wales In Marlborough House By Christmas Day

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Prince of Wales hopes to be settled in his new home, Marlborough House by Christmas day. He is thinking of changing its name to Cornwall House. Apparently he does not like the association of the place with the Marlborough family and wants to call it by his second title—Duke of Cornwall—instead.

Among the alterations now being proposed is a plan to set the front wall further back from the sidewalks and make a carriage way to the main entrance. This probably will not be done until the Prince has been in the residence for some time.

There will be a special radio installation in the suite of rooms that the royal young man will occupy. The Prince shares his father's liking for listening in and hears more radio programs than most people.

But he does not like the apparatus to be too obvious and has recently bought a loud speaker in the form of a clock. It amuses him to see his friends searching for the "speaker" when the radio is switched on.

And once he gets settled in this big house although he will only occupy about one-tenth of it—all the society gossips seem to believe that he will seriously begin to think about matrimony.

Woman Is Shot When Gun Upsets

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 25. — Mrs. Harry Collier, 18-year-old bride, tripped over the shotgun belonging to her husband in their home here. The gun tilted and discharged as it again struck the floor. The entire load tore its way through Mrs. Collier's right ankle.

Mrs. Collier is in a serious condition from shock at the Westmoreland hospital and is not expected to recover. Troubled with numbness, Mrs. Collier was adjusting a rubber stocking she wore when the accident occurred.

Spiritualists Plan Rochester Exposition

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 25.—A spiritual exposition to be held in connection with the International Hydesville Memorial and Spiritualist Congress opening in Rochester on December 3, has been announced by Mrs. M. E. Cadwallader prominent spiritualist and editor of the Progressive Thinker here to complete arrangements for the exposition.

A replica of the spiritualist exhibit in the religious section of the Palace of Education at the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial last year will be part of the exposition.

Rare books, relics, pictures of prominent spiritualists and summer assemblies and photographs of slate writing and other phenomena of the sect will make up the exhibit.

While the dedication of the Hydesville Memorial shaft is taking place on the grounds of the Plymouth Avenue Spiritualist church on December 4 spiritualists over the entire world will hold services and sing Spiritualist anthems.

On Monday December 5 a great pilgrimage to Hydesville, the birthplace of modern spiritualism will take place for the purpose of dedicating a marker on the site of the cottage where Margaretta and Katy Fox then children, first told of hearing spirit rappings.

American Woman Says Don't Wed Frenchman And Expect Happiness

Former Pittsburgh Girl, Now Baronness De Werth, Again In Marital Difficulty

Frenchmen Great Lovers But Not Good Husbands, Is Advice To Girls

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 25.—"Don't marry a Frenchman if you want to be happy," was the advice broadcasted to American girls today by one who has tried it. She is Baronne Reinach De Werth, formerly Miss Helen R. Tennyson of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Washington, D. C.

Miss Tennyson was divorced from the baron, remarried him and then obtained a legal separation in New York. She is in France at present trying to obtain the custody of her child, which was awarded to her by the American courts.

Baron De Werth, who is a member of a rich and aristocratic French banking family, has filed suit for divorce in the Rota tribunal of the Vatican. Miss Tennyson will not contest it.

The couple met while the baron was in Washington with the Tardieu mission in 1916. Miss Tennyson was doing war work in Washington at the time.

"A Frenchman is a wonderful lover," Miss Tennyson conceded. "There is no doubt about that. But a woman gets fed up with love-making. She doesn't want it all the time. My husband was determined to get revenge when I told him I would not be one among many others. I wanted to be the 'one and only'. He began by taking back everything he had ever given me. Now he is trying to get my child. No, do not marry a Frenchman if you want to be happy. Rumor has it, however, that Miss Tennyson is not opposed to attention from other "foreigners". She refused to deny that a well-known English lord is paying her marked attention.

"I may marry again," admitted the American girl. "But if I do try it again it will not be with a romantic Latin. Once is enough. Pooh, pooh, for all their love. I want respect now—not so much love."

Miss Tennyson pondered for a moment and added brightly:

"You know the Englishmen are such wonderful dancers."

With a kitchen apron over her black dress, Queen Mary recently put in a busy day helping to check and sort thousands of garments collected by the Needlework Guild for distribution among London's sick and poor.

BREAKING OUT OF BLISTERS

Over Top of Child's Head. Cuticura Healed.

"My little girl's trouble started with a breaking out of water blisters that spread all over the top of her head and around her eyes. She could hardly stand the irritation and used to scratch until the eruptions would bleed. Her hair fell out, and she could not sleep. I had to bandage her hands to keep her from scratching.

I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment so purchased some, and after using three boxes of Ointment and five or six cakes of Soap she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Frank Allen, 308 Luzerne St., Scranton, Pa.

One Of Local Balloons Is Found Near Altoona

Probably there were few spectators at the New Castle-Erie East football game at Franklin Field on Saturday, Nov. 12, who thought that the balloons sent up at that time would ever mean anything in the way of publicity to the New Castle and Erie teams or to the city of New Castle.

However, a letter just received by William Hammond, 618 South Ray street, this city, from a man living at Patton, a town located about 10 miles this side of Altoona, goes to prove that at least one of the many balloons released at the booster day classic was not sent up in vain. The letter reads as follows:

Nov. 21, 1927.

Dear Sir:

Last Saturday while hunting I saw a piece of paper hanging on a wire fence. After I had loosened it from the fence I found that your address was on the back of it and to a string was attached a piece of a balloon and some colored paper. I will enclose the piece of paper which I found to show you what condition it was in when I found it.

My address is:

CHARLES BAKER,
R. D. No. 1, Box 52
Patton, Pa.

Hammond was one of the students of the high school who released balloons at the booster day affair. There was a high wind going at the time the balloons were released and it is on account of this that the balloon referred to in the letter was carried so far.

The piece of paper mentioned in the letter was a part of the program of the day's game. Hammond, before sending the balloons out, had writen his address on the back of the program.

Seven days had intervened since the balloons were sent out when they were found.

All those who were present at the game on that day will remember that scores of balloons were "let loose" to the elements whenever New Castle scored. One or two of them went down before the city line had been passed, but the majority of them sailed up and remained aloft. Th' one found near Altoona probably traveled the farthest distance of any, about 140 miles or more.

There is no closed season for hunting the right job for the right man.—Christian Science Monitor.

Over Production In Vinegar And Cider Starts Price War

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—General overproduction, serious competition and price cutting is reported in the vinegar and cider industry by the research department of the New England council from information obtained by the domestic commerce division, United States department of commerce.

Intensive sales efforts, however, have somewhat improved matters in New England, and most of the companies which had experienced downward sales since 1921 report large increases.

The cider industry is one of the oldest in this region, and individual plants with which the survey is concerned range in age from 14 to 66 years. Over half have maintained their original management throughout their existence.

In 1923, said the report, census figures showed that of the 200 cider and vinegar plants in this country, 24 were in New England, 14 in Massachusetts, eight in Connecticut and one each in Rhode Island and Vermont. In 1923 goods worth $777,000 were produced in New England.

The plants here are small compared with those in other parts of the country. Seasonal fluctuation is great, the average number of employes in 1925 being 37. Few improvements in manufacturing methods are reported, and incentive methods of wage payment are not in use.

Total sales in 1925 were reported as having increased ten per cent over 1921 and the general trend has been upward. New England consumes the entire output of every one of the plants reporting.

A REGULAR PATRON

A pretty girl who was collecting contributions for a hospital approached a man sitting at the wheel of an expensive car. "No," was his surly answer. "I contribute regularly to that hospital.

"No doubt," said the pretty girl, "but we're collecting money today, not pedestrians."

Swansdown Flavor is Always Uniform

SCIENTIFIC methods determine in advance SWANSDOWN'S uniformly fragrant bouquet and rich abundant flavor.

The four fine grades of coffee beans used in SWANSDOWN are first washed; then all broken, "crippled" beans are floated off so that the mellow, full-bodied flavor remains unimpaired.

The selected berries are then blended into one fixed, secret formula which produces a smooth, delicious coffee of perfectly balanced qualities.

SWANSDOWN is then ready to be served in your home. A meal is only as good as its coffee.

Handled by all grocers. (14)

New Home For Yale Library Being Built

Building Planned Years Ago Finally Under Way; To Cost $5,800,000

Link In Chain Of New Structures Started With Harkness Fund

By R. T. BULKELEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 25.—Yale University's vast new library, existant on paper for several years ago, is now being erected. The structure will cost $5,800,000 without contents. For issuing a permit to build the library the city charged the University $11,620. Marc Eidlitz, of New York, builder of great buildings here and in Hartford, has the contract.

More than two years ago scores of buildings were razed to make room for the library. The site was cleared and a portion of the foundation dug a year ago or more. In the heart of the University existed an area that resembled a sand pit. Something that no one ever explained stopped the work on the library until October of this year when workmen again swarmed into the hole and started the actual foundations for the library.

Largest Library

Yale's new library, besides being the largest college library on earth, is to form one of the most attractive buildings anywhere. It is to form a link in the chain of new buildings that was started with the vast Harkness Memorial Quadrangle. When the library is completed it will face Harkness across a grassy field and a wide city street.

Alongside the library eventually the law school group projected for Yale is to rise in a manner quite as attractive as both Harkness and the library.

Funds for the law school group are in hand, the plans have been finished. The award of the contract is the only thing that is pending. With the library and law school out of the way Yale will go on with her plan for throwing the University plant into an harmonious group under direction of James Gamble Rogers, Yale's consulting architect.

Yale's new library is to front on York, Wall and High streets. At present the old gymnasium is located between Harkness Memorial and the library site. Plans are out for a new gymnasium, presumably on York Square, west of the present Yale plant. When the old gym is razed a lawn is to be planted on its site, or a portion of it.

New Law School

Yale's new lawschool is to go in the block bounded by York, Grove, High and Wall streets. Eventually the new art museum, half of which is now built on Chapel street, will front the entire block on that street from High to York streets, and then Yale will have a solid plan extending north and south four large city blocks, and east and west two large blocks. Scattered through this area many smaller buildings are either now under construction or are being planned to replace old structures.

North of the central group for a long way extends Sheffield Scientific school and far to the south is the large medical school and hospital, to which large additions also are under way.

Oil Worker Is Badly Injured

CLARION, Pa., Nov. 25.—George Youkers, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Youkers of Knox, suffered a broken nose, a fractured upper jaw and lacerations and bruises about the neck, face and collar bone while at work on an oil well near Knox.

Youkers and Isaac Fisher were preparing to run the bailer when Youkers was caught in the sand rope in some manner and was drawn against the guards at the bullwheel. He was released by Fisher and rushed to the Oil City hospital.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The majority party in the next senate is placed in the painful position of having to trade off a fistful of its best committee chairmanships to a bunch of insurgents, in order to be a majority.

In each house of congress, that party classes as the majority which is able to "organize" said house, at the start—that is, elect the representatives' speaker, the senate's president pro tem, the sergeants at arms, the senate's secretary, the representatives, clerk and the rest of the help.

* * *

The house of representatives, the Republicans as the majority party, will have a real working majority for the ensuing two years.

The Republican majority in the senate will be only a figure of speech. Even on paper, it's a majority only by an eyelash. Actually, due to the prevalence of insurgency, it's no majority at all. About the only thing it can be sure of winning on, is organization, and it can only be sure of that by paying the insurgents for it in committee chairmanships.

Forty-eight senators wearing Republican labels will sit in the 70th congress, if Senators-elect Smith and Vare get in, which is just half the senators. With Vice President Dawes, who votes only to break ties, it would be a majority—if it weren't for the insurgents.

But there are at least six insurgents, besides several more doubtful ones, but six for sure.

* * *

These six are as independent as the wind, and some of them are a good deal like it in other respects, too. With Senator Shipstead, lone Farmer-Laborite, who flocks with them, they'll cavort around anywhere, undoubtedly voting a lot of the time with the 47 Democrats, not because they love the Democrats more but to gum the political cards.

Thus the majority party in the senate is in a fine fix.

However, the insurgent six, and probably Shipstead too, can vote with the "regulars" on "organization" without hurting their consciences—if it's made worth their while. Committee chairmanships are what they crave, and the "regulars" are dealing with 'em on that basis now—with many groans.

* * *

Control of the "organization" being a mere mockery, to a majority which isn't a majority, it may seem odd that the senate "regulars" care about it so much.

To understand it, it's necessary to know something of Chinese psychology.

To a true Chinese, "face" is the most priceless thing as is. It's hard to define, but perhaps self-esteem is the nearest synonym. Your Chinaman will sacrifice everything else to have it recognized—to "save his face," as they say.

The "organization" is the "regular" paper majority's 'face."

* * *

As for committee chairmanships, they have a value half sentimental and half tangible.

A swell committee chairmanship must be a vast deal of satisfaction, for example, to an insurgent like Senator Frazier, accorded to him by the same party leaders who threw him bodily out of their ranks, as a renegade, two or three years ago. That's sentiment.

The chairman of an important committee has influence, besides. He speaks with authority. He has only one vote, like the rest, but he can tie legislation up or push it along. He's favorably situated to launch investigations. He can raise a lot of hob. All that's tangible.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—New York, like Paris, may now be seen from the air, in airplanes available to the public at $10 per passenger. The service was recently inaugurated by the Aerio Service corporation, which for some time has been acting as an agency for the arrangement of private flights from one city to another.

Steve Day and Henry Boynton [illegible] velopment of aviation as a private [illegible] the organization regularly flies to a town upstate on Sundays to see his parents. Private flights from Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Detroit are frequent.

The reason, they tell me, that flights over the city open to the public have not been ararnged for before, is that a flight over the city is a very bumpy one and it was not until routes had been charted to avoid the bumps was it considered a feasible project. Flights up the Hudson in the air and out over the bay and in and around the various flying fields have been available for some time; but the heat arising from the chimneys of New York, alternating as it does with stretches of cold air, creates pockets which makes riding over the city in some circumstances and in some routes like riding a bucking broncho. The new planes especially designed for the flight over the city, however, and the newly-charted routes and elevations, reduce the bumps to a minimum.

The elevator starters and operators are all girls dressed in tight-fitting beige trousers, maroon jackets and tam-o'-shanters. They are costumes that might have been designed for the Follies.

IN DESPAIR OVER PIMPLY, RED SKIN

ITCHED AND BURNED— UGLY TO LOOK AT

Healed at last, quickly and easily

Charlotte, Mich., Oct. 21:—"I have been a sufferer from a most unsightly skin disorder, my face being full of pimples and blackheads and my complexion was very muddy. It was very ugly to look at as it was red and firey and it annoyed me by itching and burning. I tried many treatments, but got no relief. When I was a small baby I had eczema on my body and my mother used Resinol Ointment on it and she recommended it to me at this time. In desperation I decided to send for a sample of Resinol. After using the sample I bought more Resinol as I was convinced it was a splendid remedy. After I had applied it four times, the pimples began to heal and at the end of two weeks they had entirely disappeared. Now, I have such confidence in Resinol Ointment I would not be without it." (Signed) Mrs. Alton D. White, R. F. D. 11.

Hughes' New Book Called "Old Stuff"

Historians Are Not Impressed By Second Volume On George Washington

Dr. Broome And John Bach McMaster See Little Harm In "Jazz Biography"

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Philadelphia historians have raised their voices against Rupert Hughes second volume of his new work in which he has set himself the task of "debunking" the life of George Washington as he sees it. "The same old stuff; not worth while" was the principal characterization of the author's efforts.

Dr. Edwin C. Broome, superindent of schools said it seemed to him that Hughes had picked out and emphasized some of the human failings to which anyone might be subject and had tried to give them significance they do not possess.

"I do not think it is of any historical interest to know the kind of tobacco our heroes chewed or the brand of whisky they drank" he said. "although this might prove interesting to the student of historical research in highly advanced courses.

"We should judge our heroes by their patriotism, their accomplishments and contributions to the nation. I do not mean that we should over-emphasize virtue but neither should we over emphasize a man's failings by exposing his private habits in histories. They are non-essentials and tend to do harm. After all the main purpose in teaching history outside of showing the student what has gone before is to develop good citizenship."

John Bach McMaster author of the "History of the People of United States" and former professor of history in the University of Pennsylvania said he would not classify Hughes as an historian but did not think the writer could do a great deal of harm with is book.

"It's the same old stuff" said Dr. McMaster" and not worth while. Its just following the fashion of the day simply injecting jazz into biography, which is amusing and doesn't do any harm.'

SICK WOMAN SOON RECOVERS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"A neighbor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which she said helped her so much. So I bought a few bottles and tried it out. It sure helped me wonderfully. I felt much better. My work is no longer a dread to me. If I hear of any one who is troubled the way I was, I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to them and I will answer any letters in regard to the same."—Mrs. Bertha Meachan, 1134 N. Penn. Ave., Lansing, Mich.

"I had been sickly every since I was fifteen years old. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I got so I could do all my housework and I am in good health."—Mrs. Marie K. Williams, Ketchikan, Alaska.

From Michigan to Alaska, from Maine to Oregon and from Connecticut to California letters are continually being written by grateful women recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Compound is made from roots and herbs and has been in use for over fifty years.

Persia To Get Roads Costing $45,000,000 Under U. S. Engineer

(International News Service)

TEHERAN, Nov. 25.—No less than $45,000,000 will be spent in Persia on roads if plans as formulated by an American engineer with a record of successful work in Panama, now in charge of road development in this country. The annual cost of maintaining these roads will be a million and a half "tomans," or dollars.

Although most persians prefer to travel the way Hajji Baba did still shying at the motor car and frightened almost to death by the aeroplane, the Persian government despite the difficulty it had in overcoming the conservative Persians' nervousness before the locomotive, is planning the first railway from the Persian Gulf through Teheran to the Caspian. This program for which the Mejlis has just passed a law calls for an expenditure of about $72,000,000. The law also provides for the construction in Persia of iron and steel works to supply the rails.

The twentieth century, the age of transport, is doing everything to accelerate the pace of the descendant of Hajji Baba across the vast distances, but Hajji Baba of today says he will not be hustled let the Mejliss of Iran pass what laws it will.

Buffalo Bill And Nick Favored By Young Italy

ROME, Nov. 25.—Buffalo Bill and Nick Carter remain the favorite literary provender of the Italian small boy.

All the capital news stands display Italian translations of the juvenile thrillers, bedecked by gaudy covers. Their sales outnumber those of motion picture magazines which latterday sophisticated American children devour.

The puzzle is to find the places where the lurid tales of the famed plainsman and detective are read. There is a scarcity of attics in Roman houses and woodsheds are not found with a majority of villas.

The answer may be found between the covers of the school geography in "study hour" at school.

Optimism Shown In Trade Forecast By British Industries

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A note of very great optimism as regards the prospect of a British trade revival is sounded in the quarterly forecast of the Federation of British Industries, just published.

"The outlook for next year," it says, "so far as British trade is concerned, is brighter than it has been at almost any time since the conclusion of the war.

"If our reading of the monetary development of the past few months is correct, we must be nearing the end of our difficulties.

"It seems reasonable to anticipate that next year should witness a definite upward turn in the international price-level, accompanied by a fall in our Bank Rate and an inflow of gold sufficient to re-establish that feeling of confidence in the stability of underlying conditions, which the business community requires before it is prepared to undertake long-term commitments and courageously planned schemes of industrial development upon which a permanent revival of our basic constructional trades depends.

"But most important of all, it should tend to counteract the forces which have been operating since the war to limit trade expansion to the home market and lead to a revival of our foreign trade on something like pre-war lines."

It appears that this welcome state of affairs is traceable to the decisions of the secret meeting in New York last July of the principal European Central Banks and the U. S. Federal Reserve Board, when it now appears, steps were taken to establish an international system of financial co-operation, with the ultimate aim of controling the currency gold of the world's gold-using countries.

Hospital Fund Goes Over The Top

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 25—Fund for the Zem Zem Hospital for Crippled Children went "over the top" by $10,312.50 as team workers reported pledges of approximately $47,500 when they met Monday night at the Masonic temple for the final meet of the campaign. The official grand total at the close of the campaign Monday was $310,312.50.

American Business Drops Off In China Since Consuls Left

(International News Service)

PEKING, Nov. 25.—The American Legation has just been apprised of the sorry state into which American business is let with the withdrawal of American consuls from interior points of China. At Chungking on the Upper Yangtze River an American shipping concern, the Yangtze Rapids Shipping Company, was the victim.

A demand was made on the Company for a loan of $6,000 by the local Chinese military commander. It was refused when suddenly a party of armed troops entered the Company office and refused to leave until the money had been handed over.

A Chinese employe of the American firm slipped away and succeeded in securing an intermediation of the Chungking Chinese Chamber of Commerce. The armed troops were withdrawn when the American company paid over $1000 and agreed to confer with the military leaders over the balance. While it is politely termed a loan, the money demanded and partially paid over is nothing but an extortion which will never be repaid.

ONLY THEN

"But you are not always bothered with poor light, are you?" inquired the gas company's clerk.

"Oh, no, not always!" replied the complaining householder.

"Ah, I thought so. It's only at certain times that you notice it, eh?"

"Yes; only after dark!"—From the Weekly Scotsman.

With Chamorro and Moncada both calling at the state department to mention their presidential candidacies it appears that we have now convinced Nicaraguan politicians just where to come when bitten by the presidential bee.

Filipino Labor Drawn To U.S. By High Wages

Hawaii And West Coast Get Thousands Of Young Islanders

Sugar Growers Trying To Stop Exodus Of Workers, But Number Grows

(International News Service)

MANILA, Nov. 25.—The stream of Filipino laborers to the sugar cane fields of Hawaii threatens to become a general exodus, with the establishment of a steamship line plying between Manila and Honolulu, for the sole purpose of transporting laborers back and forth.

Years ago, when the Hawaiian planters were prohibited from importing Chinese and Japanese labor, they tried out some Filipinos, and now there are between 40,000 and 50,000 Filipinos in Hawaii. Most of them have come from the Ilocos provinces in Northern Luzon, and in some towns almost all the young men have left to seek their fortune across the seas.

Wages Too Low

Sugar growers of the Philippines are trying to stop this drain of manpower, but the $1.25 weekly wage of the laborer on the Philippine sugar plantations presents a powerful contrast to the $1 a day minimum wage in Hawaii, with most of the laborers making from $1.50 to $2.50 and living conditions incomparably better.

The argument for Hawaii offered by the 1,000,000 monthly sent back by Filipino laborers in Hawaii to their relatives in the Philippines presents a constant practical appeal.

Exodus to U. S.

From Hawaii the Filipino labor exodus is now rapidly spreading to the continental United States. Every boat to San Francisco and Seattle carries between 200 and 400 ambitious young Filipinos. Formerly most of them stopped in Hawaii. Now in increasing number they debark on the mainland.

Word reaching Manila is that labor unions are looking askance at this inrush of Filipinos to the West Coast, but unless the Philippines are made independent and its inhabitants excluded from the United States under the general anti-Asiatic exclusion law, Filipino labor can continue to compete with the Americans in the United States.

World Rail Record On Scottish Express

(International News Service)

CARLISLE, Eng., Nov. 25.—By driving the Royal Scot express from London to Carlisle, a distance of 300 miles, in 338 minutes, without an assistant driver, William Ward of Crewe has set up a world's railroad record.

This was the first time that this non-stop journey, which is the longest in the world, has been accomplished by a single driver.

The weight of the train including the engine, was 544 tons, plus the weight of an instrument attached to the engine for recording speed and coal and water consumption.

The express reached Carlisle seven minutes ahead of schedule time, which had been gained north of Lancaster over the mountain section, including the climb up the Shap summit in Westmoreland (914 feet high) where the gradient for six and a half miles is as severe as one in 75.

Says Dancing Is Best Way To Learn About Good Manners

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Dancing is the best way to learn good manners according to Dr. William Shuckburgh Swayne, the 65-year-old bishop of Lincoln.

"Not only are the boys and girls who come for confirmation strikingly handsome" says the bishop, "but they are well-mannered and I am always struck with the seriousness of their demeanor.

"In the old days they were loutish and there was always a tendency to giggle. They don't giggle now. They have gained poise and self-respect.

"I attribute much of the change to the lessons learnt in the dancing class."

Two Aged Men To Face Reckless Driving Case; One Had Killed A Cow

KANE, Pa., Nov. 25. — The next term of common pleas court at Smethport, 25 miles east of here, will bring about the trials of two of Smethport's most venerable citizens, John Cramsie and Wilbur Oviatt, both well over 70 years of age, on the charge of reckless driving. Mr. Cramsie was enjoying a spin along the Farmers Valley highway when he collided with a cow which was being driven across the road. "Why does a cow cross the road," said Cramsie as he stopped and examined the bossy, which had been killed by the shock. Just then Floyd Potter appeared. He is a farmer, deputy sheriff and owner of the late lamented cow. He arrested Cramsie promptly and took him to Smethport, where the aged speeder furnished bail of $500 for his appearance at court.

Mr. Oviatt's arrest came about when a state patrolman stopped him for driving at excessive speed along the Roosevelt highway near Smethport. Mr. Oviatt was peeved and made his displeasure known in such forceful language that he was also hauled before a magistrate at Smethport and is now under bail for his appearance at court.

New England Gets Report On Doings Of Civic Bodies

OLEAN, N. Y., Nov. 25—New York state will be plumbed to a greater depth than ever before in its history when a new gas well to be sunk in the Bolivar oil fields east of here goes down to a depth of more than one mile. A group of oil and gas companies and individuals interested in the petroleum industry are financing the enterprise.

The well if if proves the gasser expected is intended to relieve the shortage of natural gas which has threatened Western New York of late. The supply it is said has been depleted by wasteful methods of early drilling in the Bradford and Olean petroleum areas.

It will take about one year to drill the giant well and will involve the sinking of a string of casings weighing 85.6 tons.

The Medina sandstone prolific gas-producing stratum is the objective of the drillers. Paul D. Torrey of Bradford, Pa., believes that at 5,700 feet a pressure of gas equal to 2,000 pounds a square inch will be struck. If so it would be sufficient to force gas as far as Buffalo and would assure Western New York of a good supply of natural gas for 20 years.

One of England's most popular song writers at the present time is a young woman, Miss Dorothy Forster, who has written over 80 successful songs and ballads.

A personal message from the president of Hy-Grade Sales—

THERE'S no doubt about it—the man (or the woman) who makes the biggest success is the one who keeps up appearances. Sometimes when clothes are needed the most, the money isn't on hand. That's where I come in, because in my store I have everything you can possibly need to look and feel well-dressed. And you don't need a lot of ready cash to step out of my store looking like a "big timer." Your credit is good!—I said so and I mean to back it up.

Just come in any time and choose your winter wardrobe from my collection of the season's finest clothing values. Overcoats and suits for men and boys in the snappiest looking styles, and best wearing fabrics you ever saw. For the gentler sex, coats that are lavishly fur-trimmed, or all Fur; dresses for every occasion, in every favored color and fabric. Easy to choose from such a wide selection—and easier still to pay for yours on the famous Hy-Grade Credit-Plan. Don't try to buy out of savings; use your earnings. You have the rest of the season to "pay while you wear." As little as $2 weekly opens an account.

B. R. SCHWARTZ,
President.

Man Vs. Insects Is World Fight Warning Issued

Battle To Finish With Bugs With Human Race Asking Reinforcements

Millions Of Dollars In Crops Annual Loss As Pests Increase

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 25.—Man vs. insects—a fight to the finish—supremacy of the world the reward!

The battle is being fought in every civilized country, and today the shock troops in the California sector issued a call for reinforcements.

Warning that millions of dollars in crops is being destroyed annually, that orchardists and vineyardists take steps to combat the attacking myriads of insects.

Not that California losses from insect pests are greater than those of other states. On the contrary, the destruction is lighter in some respects than elsewhere.

Constant Battle

But a constant battle must be waged if the losses are to be held to their present level, and extraordinary efforts must be put forth to reduce them.

Professor S. J. Holmes, once declared insects were man's strongest rivals, due to their amazing capacity for organization.

Even now the insect hordes are organizing for the annual spring drive, their goal the fertile fields of grain and flowering orchards, vineyards and truck gardens.

The coddling moth, grape leaf hopper, purple scale, red spiders, white fly, wooly aphis, black scale—like allied armies have joined forces to set upon their hereitary enemy—man.

New Armies Born

New armies will be born. The black scale alone will reproduce from 1500 to 2000 young, each of which will have but one object in life—to attack and destroy citrus trees.

At Davis farm, a department of the college of agriculture, the general staff of the army organized to repeal the myriads of hungry invaders is preparing today for the next drive. J. L. Stahl of the Pomology division, suggests that farmers everywhere in the state literally go to war to protect their crops. Comparable to the wartime training schools, a short course to teach the best methods of combatting insects of every description is to be given at Davis farm, November 28 to Dec. 3.

Whole California Town Is Moved 27 Miles To New Location By Rail

(International News Service)

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 25.—The little town of Pondosa is no longer where it used to be. In fact, it is 27 miles away from its former location.

And all the dishes in the 100 homes of the town remain intact, father's bedroom slippers are still in their accustomed nook and the pet kitten continues to warm her heels behind the stove.

For, while dwellings, the schoolhouse and the postoffice and other buildings were in the process of being moved to the new site atop flat railroad cars, community life followed its usual course without disturbance. Housewives went right on peeling potatoes and stirring the soup, while the little city crept along aboard freight cars.

"My heart goes out to these Chinese troops," sighed the former overseas doughboy. "Salmon is bad enough, but think of rice."—Detroit News.

New Weather Bureau For Moscow To End Jobs For Prophets

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Nov. 25.—Many of Russia's 5,000 weather prophets will soon be looking for other jobs if the Commissariat of Workers and Peasant Inspection carries out its plan to establish a central meterological bureau. According to the Inspection Commission, daily weather predictions cost the Soviet Government four million rubles a year, and these predictions are usually wrong.

Nearly every branch of the government has its own weather bureau. The Commissariat of Agriculture spends 850,000 rubles per year and employs 1,911 persons in its meterological department. The State Railway weather bureau has 1,356 stations costing nearly a million rubles per year; the Department of Education's weather budget amounts to 860,000 rubles. Moreover the textile trust, the tobacco trust, the state electrical department and various other state owned institutions, refusing to rely on the published weather reports, have their own staffs of expert sky-gazers whose duty it is to guess whether tomorrow will be fair and warmer, or whether it looks like snow.

The Commission hasn't been able to discover why the Department of Education and a lot of other government owned business enterprises need weather bureaus. For economy's sake the Commission urges the establishment of a modern, reliable weather bureau, and the elimination of duplication.

Aztic Dagger Is Found By Preacher

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—A curiosity in the form of a black dagger of ancient pottery, believed to be over 2,000 years old, has been brought to Boston from the pyramids of Mexico by the Rev. Dr. Claude Smith, assistant at Christ church cathedral, Mexico City, who unearthed it while making tour through one of the subterranean sacrificial temples with which the pyramids are honeycombed.

The "santo" as it is called by those who have made a study of ancient pottery, is made of Chinese clay and belongs to a class of pottery which is a puzzle to scientists of today. It cannot be duplicated by any known mixture of clay although frequently imitated.

The dagger, which is about eight inches long, contains markings and inscriptions similar to Egyptian hieroglyphics. At the handle is the indentation of a head representing the monarch of the Aztecs.

Sir Alan Cobham After World Speeding Record For Big Aeroplanes

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—An attempt to create a new speed record for big aeroplanes is to be made by Sir Alan Cobham.

He will make the attempt in an all-metal Short Rolls Royce seaplane before leaving in the same craft, about November 19 for a flight around Africa.

The record is that for seagoing aircraft carrying a useful load of 4,409 pounds (about two tons) over 100 kilometers.

At present the record stands at 109.2 miles an hour.

April And December Wed Twenty Minutes After First Meeting

Martin L. Wheeler and his 20-year-old bride

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

FLORENCE, Colo., Nov. 25.—"I have no time for flappers," Martin L. Wheeler, 76-year-old hotel owner often told the villagers when they asked him why he didn't marry again.

Then this quiet little Colorado town received the greatest surprise in years.

"Pap" Wheeler "went and did it!"

He married Miss Madge Glenn, 20-year-old girl of the flapper type—bobbed hair and short skirts.

Today, the town is recovering from a second surprise.

The Wheelers have separated!

The town learned about it when Wheeler published a notice in the local newspaper saying he would not be responsible for debts contracted by his bride of a few days.

Miss Glenn married the aged hotel proprietor 20 minutes after he had met her in Pueblo, Colo., it is said.

"Nope," said 'Pa'p." Never seen her before.

"You see," he continued, "I'd been writing back to my old friends in Dade county, Mo. Madge's great-grandfather and I are pals. We grew up in the Missouri hills together.

"Well, I'd been writing a long time and finally I got to sending a word to Madge, now and then. Then I popped the question—by mail.

"That's all there was to it."

The bridegroom is the father of nine children. Some of Wheeler's grandchildren are older than Miss Glenn. Wheeler came to Colorado from Missouri 40 years ago in a prairie schooner.

The bride, until her marriage, had lived on the Missouri farm since birth.

At the evening service at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, November 27, at 7:30, the pastor, Rev. Walter E. McClure, will speak on "Marriage and Divorce." The subject will deal with companionate marriages, which the pastor feels is just a salve to smooth over the present day evil of easy divorce.

The text is "Marriage, Divorce, The Presbyterian Church and The Bible." It will be an exposition of the new laws of the Presbyterian church which will tend to make the remarriage of divorce persons more difficult. It is a timely theme treated in a spiritual way and is Scriptural throughout.

It is great to have a clear skin

A clear skin means everything to the popularity of men and women. If you are unfortunate enough to have pimples or skin blemishes, in justice to your friends and yourself, you should treat the source of the trouble. Nature will then provide the complexion which is so much desired.

Thousands have been enabled to free themselves of unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads, but thanks to S.S.S., I got rid of them. My face now has a smooth feeling. I think S.S.S. does many wonders for the system. Besides giving me a clear complexion, it gave me a healthful look." Miss Angela Annunzio, 1007 S. Racine Ave., Chicago, Ill.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants. It is time-tried and reliable.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Show Brazilian Arbiter Given "Service" Sum

Washington Herald Reveals Don Rodrigo Octavio Given $10,000 By Calles

SUPPOSED NEUTRAL MEMBER OF BOARD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Don Rodrigo Octavio, Brazilian arbiter of the special Mexican-American mixed claims commission, which had charge of adjusting American claims against Mexico, received $100,000 from the Mexican government "as a recompense for good services to Mexico," the Washington Herald asserted today.

It was Octavio's vote, as the third and supposedly neutral member of the commission, that absolved Mexico from making any reparation for the famous Santa Isabel massacre in which sixteen Americans were murdered in cold blood by Mexican brigands. Seven months prior to this decision, and while the commission was sitting, the Herald asserts, President Calles authorized the treasury to pay $100,000 to Don Octavio, and charge it "to secret expenditures of the department of foreign relations."

The Herald reproduces the official orders, which it declares were secured from the archives of the Mexican foreign office.

Six weeks prior to the decision being handed down by the neutral arbiter, the Herald says, "The Mexican agent, Aquiles Elorduy, was boasting of the coming victory in the Santa Isabel case and Mexican newspapers were speaking of the forthcoming favorable decision in the confident light of advance knowledge."

The special mixed claims commission was composed of one American, Judge Ernest B. Perry, of Lincoln, Neb., one Mexican, Fernando Gonzales Roa, with Octavio sitting as the neutral arbiter should there be disagreement. In the Santa Isabel case there was such disagreement, and Octavio cast his vote for Mexico, this, the Herald asserts after having received $100,000 from the Mexican treasury.

LADY'S "LADY"

Woman's Racer Promises To Outclass Her Famous Ancestors

Mrs. Fred Musan te and Dear Lady

By JOSEPH P. WATKINS
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 25—Western North Carolina took part in the horse racing at Laurel, Md., recently when Dear Lady, owned by Mrs. Fred Musante, of Asheville, crossed the line so far ahead of the other two-year-olds in the $1,300 maiden two-year-old race that the others were not even visible in the newspaper pictures of the finish.

By winning her first race in the manner that she did, Dear Lady is entering the class of her famous mother, My Dear, and her equally if not more, famous uncle, My Own.

Widow Is Owner

Mrs. Fred Musante, one-time owner of My Dear, and present owner of Dear Lady, has lived in Asheville and Swannanoa for the past six years.

During that time, both My Dear and Dear Lady spent some of the winter months at the Musante stables and track at Swannanoa, where Fred Musante, at one time a well-known jockey and later owner of several well-known, and two very famous horses, bought a home and built a track and stable, and lived until his death, two years ago.

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Fred Musante sold My Dear to Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, personal physician to Woodrow Wilson, and owner of one of the largest private tracks and stables in the country.

Admiral Grayson already was owner of My Own, brother of My Dear, and the horse that competed with Zev for the honor of racing Papyrus, the English horse.

May Equal Mother

Dear Lady, the first daughter of My Dear, by Pennant, a horse of the Harry Payne Whitney stables, has so far shown every indication of being as famous a racer as her mother.

Dear Lady comes of a string of horses famous for several generations. Twenty years ago Joe Brooks, an old trainer, who has become an institution about the tracks, came to Benning, the old race track in Washington, with a young mare, Betty Landon, owned by H. Rozier Dulaney, of Upperville, Va.

Betty Landon, quoted at 100 to 1, won the race and became famous. Betty Landon has had ten sons and daughters, and the ninth and tenth, My Dear and My Own, have eclipsed their mother in racing circles. Betty Landon is still living, at the Dulaney stables at Upperville.

MENU HINT

If you use potatoes and one other vegetable in your stew in the following menu you will have the mineral content for your family. A simple cake always makes a good dessert, although some authorities say that a meal never should end with something sweet and sticky, but that a dessert of that kind should invariably be followed by nuts or fruit.

Lamb Stew with Dumplings
Cheese and Apple Salad
Boston Brown Bread
Spice Cake Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

Dumplings—Mix and sift two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Work in two teaspoons of butter with the tips of the fingers, add two-thirds cup of milk gradually, using a knife for mixing.

Cheese and Apple Salad—Wipe and pare eating apples, shape with a vegetable cutter or cut in small pieces, having 24 small balls. Marinate with French dressing. Mash one cream cheese and add one teaspoon each of Worcestershire sauce and salt and one tablespoon of chopped canned pimento. Shape into 12 balls the same size as the apple balls. Arrange on lettuce leaves and garnish with strips of pimento. Serve with French dressing.

Spice Cake—One cup sugar, one-half cup lard, one-half cup molasses, two eggs, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, a little salt, one scant cup hot water, two teaspoons soda, two and one-half cups flour. Stir well.

SUGGESTIONS

Baked Meat Dumplings

Make a dough as for shortcake, roll out and cut in squares. Take one cup of cold boiled ham or other meat, one cup of bread crumbs, two eggs, pepper, salt and butter to season. Beat all well together and place one large spoonful in the center of each square, bring the corners all together in the center and pinch them so they will hold. Bake in quick oven.

Use Silk

Use silk thread for basting when sewing on velvet. It will leave no marks.

MENU HINT.

Always looking for something a bit "different" to serve(are we not? The menu for a day submitted may not be good for those who are on a reducing diet but would taste good and may give you some idea of varying the the food you were planning to serve if you cannot use the whole menu:

Heat milk in double boiler and add diced cheese and seasoning. Beat until smooth. Mix with cooked spinach and one-half of crumbs. Most of the blacksmiths' anvils are silenced now, but there has been no fundamental change in sewing circles.

Considerable Number Ask For Free Meat At Shop On Thanksgiving Morning

More than 1,000 pounds of meat were distributed to the needy people of New Castle Thanksgiving morning by B. I. French of the National Market, East Washington street, he reports.

Although the doors were not scheduled to open until nine o'clock, yet as much as an hour earlier people stood in the doorway waiting. When Mr. French did open the doors, at the hour set, the same people and others jammed their way into the market, intent on having some sort of Thanksgiving, at least.

Behind the counter, piled high with meat of every description, stood Mr. French and his two assistants.

"How many in your family?" was his question as he weighed out a portion for each.

The answers varied. Some said four—in fact, that was the smallest family reported—and some said 12, which was the largest.

The children who came to the store Mr. French saved until the last. Then he started to give to them chucks, ducks, pork loin, pork chops—everything. And it was not until the last child had been satisfied that the doors were closed; closed on one of the most magnificent gestures that New Castle has yet to see from one of its merchants.

Some queer things happened. One man got enough meat for his family and then turned to the fish counter and purchased a quart and a pint of oysters. Another tried to pay 10 cents for one of the floral decorations when Mr. French refused to take it for the meat that he had given to the man. And only two from the whole crowd that were served stayed long enough to say a "thank you", although the expression on their faces denoted far more than the words ever could.

At the same time, at the bakery counter, another man stood, doling out bread, rolls and cakes until his supply was exhausted.

But one of the most pathetic things about the whole affair were the telephone calls that came into the market Thanksgiving morning. Families who were destitute and were all ill phoned into the store to see if they could not get meat for dinner in some manner or other. They had no one to send, most of them said, and they, too, were needy. But there was no way in which the meat could be gotten to them.

It was almost 11 o'clock before the last person had been sent away, and Mr. French closed the market with the satisfaction of knowing that he, at least, had done all that he could for those who were more unfortunate on the day of national thanksgiving.

Large Crowd At Performance By Richard Mantell

As a real pre-Thanksgiving morsel, patrons of the drama had Robert Mantell and Genevieve Hamper here Wednesday evening when "The Merchant Of Venice" was presented in the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Unfortunately for the American stage, actors of the calibre of Robert Mantell are all too few in these days of revues and blues and contortionistic dancing. New Castle appreciated the opportunity and the auditorium was nearly filled to enjoy it.

As Shylock, the money lender of Venice, Mantell was superb. Despite an indisposition which would have kept an ordinary player in his room, this splendid exponent of Shakespearean drama played his part as only Mantell can and in his work he was ably supported by Miss Hamper who played Portia.

Some of the cast were a little weak perhaps, or it may have been that the comparison to Mantell and Hamper made it appear so, but the outstanding work of these two stars left nothing to be desired. Such performances as the one of Wednesday evening are the kind that justify a theatre and it is to be hoped that others of equal merit will appear this winter.

HOW MISERY COMES TO MILLIONS

Thousands of families are in want today! Misery comes, often from a simple yet deadly cause.

Father or mother takes sick. Perhaps wrong treatment is taken—a wrong diagnosis? Prolonged illness—no work, no money! System poisoning—professionally called TOXEMIA—was likely the cause. Few people suspect this insidious disease. Forty or more symptoms may mean its beginning. Ordinary laxative pills and waters don't clean out the poison wastes that cause it. Take PARTOLA, the internal antiseptic and laxative. That's the remedy for a thousand ills, because it prevents! All good druggists sell regular box of PARTOLA 30¢, double size 50¢.

Hunt Assailant Of Man In Hospital With Knife Wounds

Marion Mangiatosia, aged 27, of 613 Pearson street, is in the New Castle hospital, as a result of serious knife wounds sustained at 12:45 a. m., Thursday at his home. He was wounded by a knife in the left side of the neck near the jugular vein and on the left arm.

His assailant, the police say, was Ernest Masi, rear 607½ Pearson street, escaped following the cutting. The cutting and injury of Mangiatosia, the police say, was the result of a drinking party, which ended in an argument. It is said that Masi, who is a piano salesman, did not succeed in cutting the man, he was after.

At the hospital today, it was stated that Mangiatosia showed some improvement and is believed to have a good chance of recovering from his wounds.

Police are seeking to locate Masi, who is described as being thirty years of age, five feet tall, weighing 130 pounds, and wearing black pants, black sweater, black low shoes, light colored cap.

Youth Try To Land Fish Falls Into Dam, Drowns

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., Nov. 25.—Joe Klish, 9, was dead at his home in Sagimore today due to drowning while on a fishing excursion Thanksgiving Day. In his anxiety to land a fish the boy lost his balance and fell into the water at Surre-Rinn dam near here.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Back and hard at it today after the annual rest (?) of Thanksgiving Day. All of us probably have a touch of that overstuffed feeling, and few there are who can hit the job with the usual zest. It's a great day, Thanksgiving, but that day after feeling rather robs part of the enjoyment.

There must have been a lot of food hidden away yesterday. If all the drumsticks of yesterday could be piled in one heap, they would provide weapons for a lot of drummers, and if all the pumpkin pies used could be gathered together, it would provide materials for all the movie comedies to be turned out in the next two years.

Did considerable roaming round since Wednesday's paper came out and the list would include a show, a football game, a wedding, a couple of dances and a flock of eating. Oh my yes, oodles of eating. It does seem as though it is getting to be a national pastime of eating when all other amusements run out. When there is nothing left to do but go home, its time to eat seems to be the rule. And let it be said in passing that anyone who orders buckwheat cakes at 1:30 in the morning takes his eating seriously.

Speaking of football games, for there must be something put into this polyum today, what was your damage at the game? A number of the boys learned a sad lesson at the game, particularly members of the Hard Hatters. An Iron Mike is nothing to wear to a football game when on both sides of you sit folks who rise up whenever a touchdown is made and simply flail out on both sides. It doesn't matter much if the hat be a soft one, but these hard hats weren't built for such punishment.

And now that Thanksgiving is over, the next few weeks holds little but hard work and a frantic endeavor to save a few dimes to get some Christmas presents.

What doth it profit a man to write a naughty book if nobody will denounce it?

Cannot Forbid Lepers To Wed In Philippines

Attorney General Rules That Marriages Cannot Be Prohibited

New Cure For Disease To Stamp It Out Within Next Generation

(International News Service)

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 25.—Lepers cannot be forbidden to marry, rules the attorney general of the Philippine islands, replying to a request of the chief of the Culion leper colony that the governor general issue an executive order prohibiting marriage among the leprosy patients of that colony.

Some 5,000 of the estimated 10,000 lepers in the Philippines have been collected by the government and isolated on the island of Culion, in the southern Philippines. There they are allowed to live in their own homes and so far as possible follow the mode of living enjoyed in any Philippine community. Many of them are married and have children.

Normal At Birth

These children are free from the dread disease at birth, but until the late General Wood became governor general of the Islands the boys and girls grew up in the home of their parents and eventually contracted leprosy. Now they are removed to an asylum near Manila, where they are educated until adopted by relatives or are able to support themselves.

During the Wood administration, the cure of leprosy became an established fact, and over 1,000 have been discharged from the colony, entirely well. Before this time leprosy was regarded as incurable, and no objection was made to the inmates of the colony marrying and thus getting what happiness they could get out of life.

May Isolate Patients.

Now, however, if a person with leprosy in its early stages, and therefore curable, marries with a patient who has had the disease for a number of years, both husband and wife run the risk of remaining incurable. Hence the agitation to prevent marriages between lepers.

Isolation of male and female patients may be resorted to if the legislature cannot be persuaded to adopt an anti-marriage law for lepers. At any rate, the condition is but temporary, as those now in the later stages of the disease should all be dead within five or ten years and the new patients most of them, can be cured under the new scientific methods.

Prepare Appeals To Save Ruth And Gray From Chair

Attorneys For Doomed Pair To Hold "Last Ditch" Conference Shortly

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A "last ditch" conference in which defense attorneys will confer on any possible remaining measure to avoid the electric chair, was announced today on behalf of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her paramour, Henry Judd Gray, under sentence to die the week of January 9 for the sashweight murder of the woman's husband.

Samuel I. Miller, counsel for Gray intimated today that in addition to making an appeal for executive clemency, he would take a plea to the United States courts by means of seeking a writ of habeas corpus in the United States district court. If the writ is granted he will then appeal to the U. S. supreme court at Washington on the ground that Gray's constitutional rights were violated during the trial.

Continue Flying, Backers Dispatch To Captain Giles

Relations Between Giles And Backers At Straining Point

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Nov. 25.—"Forget everything and fly!"

This was the substance of a second telegram sent today to Capt. Frederick A. Giles, British aviator, by William H. Rosewarne, Detroit backer of the proposed flight of Giles to Australia by way of Hawaii.

The British aviator, incensed because his backer intimated he was seeking "cheap and vulgar publicity," announced he would not fly until Rosewarne retracted the statement.

"I had nothing to apologize for," Rosewarne said, "but I do not want to appear to be discouraging Giles. I still have hopes he will succeed and I think he will change his mind after he has had time to think over his declaration."

Relations between Giles and Rosewarne became strained when the sponsor of the proposed flight rebuked the British aviator for engaging in a controversy with the weather bureau, over flying conditions in the Pacific.

The Way of the World

TRAVEL

Twelve Detroit men arranged to fly to New York for dinner. The schedule calls for a five-hour trip. The airplane makes a New York suburb out of Detroit. That's travel up-to-the-minute.

* * *

WORLD TOURIST

Bishop Joseph C. Hartzell, 85 years old, tells friends he has traveled a million and a half miles in the service of his religion without accident. Scuffing through the African desert, splashing across flooded rivers, riding on oxen-back and sometimes in an airplane. Million and half miles by every known means without mishap. Travel is safe. News stories of train wrecks, plane crashes make good reading because they are unusual. Think of Bishop Hartzell. He averages 35,000 miles a year without accident.

* * *

OTHER TRAVELERS

George A. Bellamy, president of the world's largest settlement house, and a student of the Aemrican Indian, has ideas on traveling worth considering.

"Scientists agree that a 14-year-old girl ought to be able to carry a 25-pound pack 25 miles a day and not be over-fatigued," he says.

In Arizona Bellamy found a 92-year-old Indian who rode horse-back 50 miles a day and never noticed any strain, a 46-year-old Navajo who can do 26 miles on the run in two hours and 49 minutes and finish with heart and respiration normal, and a red-skinned messenger of 60, who daily runs from Fort Wingate to Zuni and return, for 92 miles.

* * *

INDIAN RUNNERS

Bellamy says he saw six Indians run a ten-mile race and not one of them was under 55 years of age. He adds that the real Navajo test of a 14-year-old boy is his ability to run three days and three nights without rest.

Nobody can persuade you that it is necessary for you to be a marathon runner to be happy or to prosper.

More back-yards and front porches, however, where the whole family can enjoy the fresh air will strengthen the nation.

* * *

GOOD-BYE CITIES

It is possible that improved traveling devices, better airplanes and automobiles, will end the growth of cities. Easy means of getting over the ground will make it possible for anyone who wants to live on an acre-farm a long distance from the city to travel comfortably to office or factory.

Try Losing 20 Lbs.

Learn what it means to be slender. What it means in new beauty, new health and vitality. You will always be glad that you know.

Wherever you look you can see that people have found a new way to reduce. Excess fat, once so common, is the exception now. Find out that scientific method in justice to yourself.

That way is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The slender figures which prevail today are largely due to that.

The use of Marmola requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. Simply take four tablets daily until the excess disappears. Every box contains the formula and the reasons for results, so you will have no fear of harm. The effects are due to a substance which Nature employs in the body to turn food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. It is the result of wide research and experiment by scientific men.

If you overweigh, you owe yourself a trial of the help that has done so much. Take Marmola for a while and watch the change that comes. All the results will delight you, we believe. Order now, before you forget it. When reduction is so easy, why stay fat?

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

OIL BRINGS DAILY FORTUNE INTO TINY TEXAS TOWN

Although Ingleside, Tex., consists of only a few houses, surrounded by a broad expanse of virgin prairie, over $5,000,000 worth of a single product has been handled there in the past few months. A large oil company recently selected it as the terminal for a 117-mile pipe line from its oil fields at Mirando City. Six great tanks, each having a capacity of 80,000 barrels of oil were built and 5,000 barrels of oil with a valuation of approximately $12,500 flowed into Ingleside daily. More pipe lines and tanks were added until approximately 50,000 barrels of oil flowed into the town daily. The oil is loaded on barges and tankers and shipped to refining tanks near New York. Photo above shows one of the pipe terminals.

Robert B. Mantell Over Half Century On American Stage

Veteran Actor, Here Wednesday Night, Discusses Modernized Shakespeare

Declares There Is Still Visible Demand For Real Shakespearean Acting

He is an old man, is Robert B. Mantell, and it is not often that a reporter can manage to get close enough to the man to get an interview of any sort, and so this scrivener feels particularly fortunate — for Lady Luck smiled Wednesday evening, and for more than 20 minutes he talked with Mantell—the Mantell of America.

Yes, he is an old man, and it was with considerable prying that his age was finally ascertained: he is now in his 73rd year. Fifty-one of these years have been spent on the stage and 25 of the 51 have been spent exclusively in Shakespeare.

Mr. Mantell passes a thin hand over his brow and chuckles grimly when one asks him how he likes Hamlet in modern dress. Yes, he says, he has played the role, modern, and he rather enjoyed it. It was in St. Louis, at the time that the English players were interpreting the piece with cigarettes, guns and cocktails. One of the leading citizens of St. Louis asked him to put on a performance of Hamlet in modern dress, and he acquiesed.

At first, Mr. Mantell was in a quandary. How should he play it? Should he follow the lead given by the Britishers, or should he let his conscience be his guide. Deciding on the latter, Mr. Mantell got his cast together and started to practice.

The critics who came to damn, snickered in the first act, when soldiers appeared in khaki, carrying Army.. Springfield rifles; they laughed up the critical sleeve when Hamlet appeared in a dinner jacket; but strangely enough, when they found that the lines were not altered—when they found that Hamlet did not say a single "damn," nor did he smoke one cigarette, they were unanimous in their praise.

"But I do not like playing Shakespeare in that fashion," declared Mr. Mantell. "Shakespeare must be taken with the old 17th century setting if one is to extract the full flavor from the piece.

"But the part of the grave-digger, when it is played in modern dress—when the man can appear in dirty overalls, smoking a cob pipe—is even more humorous. It is a fat part in any performance, but it is fatter than ever when played modern.

"My favorite roles? Well, they are Shylock in "The Merchant of Venice," Lear in "King Lear," and Richelieu in the play by the same name.

"In all of these, I am peculiarly fitted to the part. In the Merchant, while there are no lines to the effect that Shylock limped slightly, yet the general tenor of the piece builds up a limp for the banker. Lear is an old man, and he might truly have a limp, and Richelieu, in real life did have a decided limp. Some enthusiasts come back stage after a performance and tell me how nicely they think that I got off the limp. Not very many of them know that the limp is entirely natural, and that I could not walk without it if I tried."

It has been almost 25 years since Mr. Mantell played New Castle before: he cannot remember the exact date. But it was in Shakespeare that he came here first, and it is in Shakespeare that he makes his last appearance in the city before his retirement. For Mr. Mantell must retire, says his manager. Even now he is ill and it is all that he can do to get through one performance of The Merchant of Venice, and Lear quite exhausts him.

"Yes, the people still want Shakespeare," declares Mr. Mantell, "but it is not the type of people that most persons would think. None of the 'dress circle' care for it, much. It is the poor people, that is, those who are relatively poor, that seems to get the most out of it. That is why we play with such top prices. I am sure that I would sooner play to a full theater at a nominal sum than to a half empty house, although it represents even more money. I want to give them Shakespeare."

To revert to Hamlet: Although he is well over 70, yet George Jean Nathan, a New York critic and perhaps the most distinguished of the professors of the American Drama, declares that Mr. Mantell can read Hamlet even better than the young romantics who so often play the role.

FOR SKIN IRRITATIONS

Sure of Himself Now!

So Clean Inside, No Fear of Perspiration Offense, However Over-Heated

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Dozens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But when you cascarize the system, you get rid of all the poisons by normal muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for autointoxication, stop it. For a candy cascaret is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascaret tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 25c.

"ANYTHING that gets results, was all the thought I ever gave to laxatives. In those days my perspiration was so acid, it used to rot my clothes. Then a doctor tipped me off to those wonderful little sweeteners—

Seventh Ward News

School Paper Issued By Mahoning School

Paper Is Published By Newspaper Club; Other News Notes Of Seventh Ward

The Thanksgiving number of "The Echo", the Mahoning school paper, was given out Wednesday afternoon at the school. In the year 1925 the first copy of this school paper was published, but there were only one or two issues published that year and there has been none since until the issue of the paper this year.

The paper is excellent from cover to cover. It is in a little booklet form with eight pages. It contains articles about the organization of the educational clubs at the school, of which there are a number, stories about various activities at the school such as the hall patrols, chapel, sanitary squads, attendance records, school council, street patrol, etc. Also interesting items about some of the teachers and pupils. The poem on the cover page of the paper should receive a bit of praise. The title is "The Echo" and it was written by Frances Frost of 9B and is quite good.

"The Echo" differs a little from most papers because it is assembled by a news club instead of the usual way. The newspaper club is in charge of Miss Beulah Kemm.

Members of the club are Angeline Castrucci, Frances Frost, Virgil Wettich, James Gallagher, Jack McGowan, Joe Wylie, Jane Leich, Howard Purdy, Jack Harris, Susie Orlando, David Sleppy, Hazel Smith, Frances Hyde, Edward Logue, John Sullivan, Jack Cearfoss, James Cooper, Howard Tackitt, Frank Humphrey, Doris Peterson, Jean Marie Peterson and Tony Fusco.

E. church, read the scripture and offered prayer, and Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoning Presbyterian church, preached on the theme, "Some Things We Should Be Thankful For." The offering received will be given to the Almira Home.

Atlantic Trade Cause Of Race By Ship Lines

Battle Of Ocean Traffic Stirs Big Companies To Keen Struggle

Many Nations Have Big Programs For Handling Growing Traffic

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Next summer will witness a big struggle between the principal trans-Atlantic shipping lines of the United States, Great Britain, France and Germany for leadership in the North Atlantic passenger and cargo traffic, according to maratime experts here.

Preparations of an extensive character are said to be already afoot, and the final result for the traveling public would seem to be swifter and more comfortable travel and cheaper fares.

Germany is Blamed.

Germany, according to these experts who are closely watching the situation, is largely responsible for the new struggle, and is preparing an ambitious building program with eyes on recapturing her pre-war carrying trade.

The chief plans of the rival countries are alleged to be as follows:

UNITED STATES: Two liners of the Leviathan type projected by the United States Shipping board. The institution of a daily service between Long Island and Southhampton with fast liners carrying airplanes, ensuring a three-day mail delivery time at the maximum.

GREAT BRITAIN: One 50,000 and one 25,000-ton liner, projected by the White Star line, which it is hoped to have completed for next year's summer traffic. The Cunard company is "watching developments very closely, and will be ready to compete with any rivalry", according to Sir Thomas Rowden, chairman of the company.

New Fast Ones.

GERMANY: The Norddeutscher Lloyd is said to have two 46,000-ton liners under construction which it is believed will be faster than anything on the route, and will offer between Europe and America even greater comfort and luxury than is obtainable today.

FRANCE: The Compagnie Generale Transatlantique is contemplating building an even larger motor liner than the Ile de France, the company's largest and palatial liner recently put into service.

Italy, while not believed to be offering serious competition as yet, is steadily forging ahead with the construction of superior motor liners, passages aboard which are finding favor with the wealthier type of continental who previously travelled on the German or French boats.

King And Queen End Christmas Shopping

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The British royal family has completed its Christmas shopping.

Queen Mary's Christmas gift buying may be said to have started about last January, because her great hobby is visiting the shops of antique dealers and buying presents for her family and friends. All the same, however, about two months before Christmas she generally makes a very thorough round of shops in search of gifts. This year this practice has been interfered with by her brother's illness and death, and the majority of goods for the Queen to make selections from have been sent direct to Buckingham Palace.

Shortage In Clergy Problem In England

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 25.—There is a serious shortage of candidates for the Ministry in Britain which is causing especial anxiety to the Established Church of England.

According to the reasons for the shortage given by the fighting shy of church as a profession because:

The sons of the clergy feel that they can serve church and state equally well in some other profession;

Many of them are convinced that they have no real vocation in the church;

Modern education has shaken the faith of many of them;

From a financial point of view, the church is not attractive.

There are 5,000 fewer clergy in the Established Church than there were 20 years ago, despite an enormously increased population. At that time there used to be about 700 ordinations yearly. The largest number ordained in any one year since the war was 463, while last year it fell to 353. And it seems that the number is not likely to be increased for some years to come.

Kalinin Is Rebuked For Talking Too Loud In Soviet Meeting

(International News Service)

LENINGRAD, Nov. 25.—Proletarian simplicity and directness which erases distinctions between officials and common laborers doesn't exempt even President Michael Ivanovich Kalinin from good sound rebukes.

Addressing the Central Executive Committee, the Soviet Union parliament, Alexander Riazanov, a director of Lenin's Institute, noticed President Kalinin descend from the rostrum and discuss a report with a member of the committee's presidium a few feet away. After giving M. Kalinin a few "dirty" looks, Riazanov said in a voice audible throughout the hall.

"I'm sorry. I beg your pardon," answered M. Kalinin and returned to his seat.

Ellwood High Defeated By One Point In Last Game Of Season

Overconfidence Said To Have Been Cause Of Ellwood's Lose To Monaca

Monaca Shows Brilliant Field Strategy In Hardfought Battle Thanksgiving Day

(By Tony Pasta.)

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Nov. 25.—After sailing along the entire season without a defeat Ellwood City high football team traveled to Monaca yesterday to close the season and suffered defeat by the score of 7-6. It is often said that over-confidence is destructive to a team and this saying seems to fit the Blue and White eleven for they were expected to win in an easy fashion but found the Beaver Valley High team to be a little tougher than they were cracked up to be. We cannot say that the Tubers did not play hard but it certainly did not seem like the team that has been on the gridiron this year for the Ellwood high.

Neither team scored in the first or last quarters and both elevens made practically the same number of first downs with Ellwood having a slight edge over Monaca. The Tubers were probably quite surprised for they did not expect a great deal of opposition—at least not as much as they received. Other teams have tried to pierce the Blue and White line but failed while Monaca a number of times plunged through the line for gains.

MacMurdo seemed unable to get away but was a steady ground gainer with Bill King and Justine doing their share. MacMurdo got off to a bad start and seemed unable to hit his stride at the opening of the game for he fumbled twice, the last time being a short distance from the goal. Yet he redeemed himself for this partly by a 20 yard run later in the contest. Justine did not start the fray but was sent in to replace Lawrence.

Only a few minutes after Justine was sent in, Ellwood scored their only touchdown with Justine carrying it across the line.

Perhaps the star of the day could easily be decided for he was quite conspicuous in every play. He was D. Clark who accepted a triple pass and ran about 35 yards to score Monaca's first touchdown and then cinched the game by kicking it over for extra point.

Monaca seeing that they could not gain enough through the line launched an aerial attack and regardless of the fact that they received several penalities for not completing them they continued this method which proved disastrous to the Blue and White eleven.

In the early part of the fray Ellwood advanced the ball within ten yards from the goal when MacMurdo fumbled. During this first quarter Lee's aggregation outplayed Monaca but was unable to score. It was not until the first part of the second period that the Tubers succeeded in crossing the goal line. A pass from Fanno to Justine netted 15 yards but later Ellwood failed to make first down and were forced to punt. Monaca was also forced to a punt and it resulted in a bad kick which was followed by a 15 yard penalty giving Ellwood the ball within a yard or so from goal.

Twice Ellwood pierced the Monaca line with MacMurdo and Bill King carrying the ball, but still a few inches were needed to cross the line. On the next play Justine plunged over for the first score of the game. A short time after the kickoff Ellwood began a march up the field but it was interrupted when Monaca intercepted a pass, ending the first half of the fray.

Just a short part of the third quarter had passed when a triple pass was completed with D. Clark on the receiving end of it, netting 35 yards and crossing the goal line. But the worst was yet to come for with the score tied Clark again took the role of a high school hero and kicked it over for the extra point.

Ellwood launched a final attack in the last quarter to cop the prize but it was then too late. Several passes were attempted but were intercepted. Monaca also failed to gain much territory during this part of the fray. When the final whistle blew the score was still 7-6 in favor of the Beaver valley eleven.

This contest marked the closing of the career of a number of Ellwood high's gridders which include Maloney, Captain Mains, Haswell, MacMurdo, Rubino, Brady, Rutter, H. Slocum, J. King and Clyde James. All these were lettermen last year with the exception of Rubino and James. The blue and white suffers a real loss in losing these men and we hope that they may all make good on some college team to carry off laurels as they have done for Ellwood City. Regardless of the fact that these men will be lost by graduation a good team is looked for next year.

A large crowd of rooters followed the blue and white to Monaca and did their best to cheer them on to victory. The cheering by the students was exceptionally good and deserve to be complimented on their yells. The band did not accompany the team.

Forced To Sleep In Chair--Gas So Bad

"It seemed everything I ate would sour and turn to gas. I dreaded bedtime, the gas crowded my heart so. Often at night I sat up in a chair to get a little sleep. I tried all kinds of medicines. Then I read an advertisement about Adlerika and got a bottle. The relief it gave me was wonderful. Now it seems I can eat all the time and nothing hurts me. I sleep all night long and am feeling just fine. It's easy to do all my housework and washing now. I couldn't praise Adlerika enough."—Mrs. Glenn Butler.

As gently and naturally as taking a drink of water, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels bringing quick relief from gas bloating, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation.

The very FIRST dose of Adlerika often brings out astonishing amounts of old waste matter from the intestinal canal. This poisonous matter may have been in the intestines a long time, causing gas, headache, sleeplessness and many other symptoms. A treatment of just a FEW weeks with Adlerika often brings great permanent improvement in cases of so-called stomach trouble.

What Doctors Say

Dr. H. Louis Shoub, New York, states: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing action, tends to check the growth of intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. J. Lancaster, a physician of over a quarter century's experience, says: "In the treatment of gastro-intestinal disorders, Adlerika has no equal."

J. E. Puckett, writes: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated from my system."

Dr. Carl Weschcke, graduate of Heidelberg University, Germany, first perfected Adlerika. It is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser known to science with glycerine, buckthorn, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements.

Many physicians recognize Adlerika as the one dependable remedy for gas, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation. Unlike most medicines it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel.

Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika may bring out poisonous, gas-forming matter which you would never believe was in your system.

No matter what you have tried for the bowels and stomach, Adlerika will surprise you.

Lady Godiva 1927 Arrives In Plane

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Lady Godiva arrived in Chicago today—not on a horse, but in an airplane.

A. N. Rebori, Chicago architect, who is staging the Lady Godiva tableaux to be presented here tonight at the annual arts ball, greeted Miss Rosalind Hightower of Detroit, who is to enact the part. Miss Hightower flew here in an airplane piloted by Captain Homer Berry.

"Has she—er—has Lady Godiva," chorused reporters.

"Yes, yes, yes indeed," interpolated Rebori, "she has hair and not bobbed hair."

"Will she ride a horse—er—using her hair as costume?" he was asked.

"No," replied Rebori, "Chicago traffic conditions are too bad. The ballroom would be too crowded. We would have to put a tail light on the horse."

"How will you appear?" reporters asked Lady Godiva.

"In the moonlight," answered Miss Hightower with a charming smile.

"Well," argued reporters, "Lady Godiva originally rode a horse. Where are you going to put this Lady Godiva?"

"Hm," mused Rebori. "Let's see. Probably in a picture frame."

Some dissent was expressed.

"No," he added, I think I'll put her in a fish bowl." And with that he ended the interview.

Cliff-Dwellers And Round Houses

THE MOST CURIOUS TYPE OF INDIAN HABITATION WAS THE CLIFF-DWELLING, WHICH RANGED IN SIZE FROM ONE ROOM TO A HUNDRED, AND SQUATTED ON SOME INACCESSIBLE LEDGE ON THE STEEP SIDE OF A CANYON. THE "CLIFF-DWELLERS" HAVE PASSED AWAY, BUT RUINS OF THEIR PICTURESQUE "CASTLES" ARE TO BE FOUND IN THE MESA VERDE REGION OF COLORADO AND OTHER PLACES.

PROTECTION FROM THEIR SAVAGE ENEMIES MUST HAVE MEANT MUCH MORE TO THE CLIFF-DWELLERS THAN CONVENIENCE. THEIR HOUSES HAD NO DOORS AND WERE ENTERED BY A HATCHWAY IN THE ROOF. THESE INDIANS HAD REACHED A HIGHER STATE OF CIVILIZATION THAN MOST OF THEIR NEIGHBORS.

IN MARKED CONTRAST TO THE CLIFF DWELLINGS WERE THE ROUND HOUSES OF THE MANDAN INDIANS THAT LIVED ON THE UPPER MISSOURI RIVER. THESE LODGES WERE BUILT OF A FRAMEWORK OF SAPLINGS COVERED WITH EARTH.

EACH LODGE WAS OCCUPIED BY A NUMBER OF FAMILIES BELONGING TO THE SAME CLAN. THE INTERIOR WAS DIVIDED INTO STALLS OR COMPARTMENTS BY PARTITIONS RADIATING FROM A CENTRAL FIRE PIT WHERE ALL THE COOKING WAS DONE.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS WASHINGTON 39-6

Strong Attack Upsets Visitors

New Castle High Football Team Ends 1927 Season In Blaze Of Glory; Washington High Completely Subdued In Mud Encounter; Field Resembles Lake, But Fails To Halt Fine Play; Locals Flash Effective Passing System; Fumble Paves Way For Visitors' Touchdown In Third Quarter; Reider, Turk And Harper Brilliant In Offensive Attack; Ostrosky And Alexander Play Fine Game On Line; Crowd Of 7,000 Witness Thanksgiving Day Classic

BY "BUGS" WALTHER

On a gridiron caked with mud, New Castle High School football team concluded the 1927 season in a blaze of glory by handing the highly touted Washington High football team a 39 to 6 setback, Thanksgiving day.

The scene of the battle was Ben Franklin High Field, and the 7,000 grid enthusiasts who jammed their way into the local stadium will long remember the conflict.

It was one of those football games that you often read about but seldom see, there was a little bit of everything, brilliant open field running, terrific plunges through the line, a diversified forward passing system, and plenty of grit.

A rather hard rain early yesterday morning made the playing field more fit for motor-boating, and a slight drizzle of rain that started in the second half of the game didn't help the occasion one bit. But despite the fact that the footing was rather precarious the schoolboy gridders slopped their way through one of the most exciting and best played games of the year here.

For people who take their football seriously the contest enacted here on Thanksgiving Day was top-notch. It was a case of two highly trained teams battling for supremacy, with one of them just a little bit better in their offensive execution. Washington High has a mighty fine eleven, but New Castle displayed a group of warriors that shadowed them.

Score Six Times

What would have happened on a dry field yesterday is left only to the imagination. Both teams had fine attacks, and also backfield threats that given a different setting would have stood out more prominently perhaps. New Castle High tallied six touchdowns, were awarded an extra-point for tripping, and secured a safety on a blocked punt. Washington High tallied one touchdown.

New Castle High unbeaten in four previous W. P. I. A. L. encounters ended their season with a clean slate as far as league records are concerned. It was a characteristic fighting New Castle eleven that battled its way to a most conclusive victory yesterday afternoon. Washington High, trained to the minute and supporting what they regarded as one of the finest attacks in recent years more than met their match in the proteges of Coach Bridenbaugh.

Paul Reider the "galloping ghost" of the local squad was very much in evidence in the "Turkey Day" game. This youngster is recognized as one of the best quarterbacks in the league this year and his exhibition in the final battle stamps him as deserving of plenty of credit. In addition to scoring two of the touchdowns, he was on the receiving end of several fine passes tossed by Earl Turk. The Little Presidents had been warned to watch Reider but they failed to heed their warning. Earl Turk playing his last game for New Castle High School stood out brilliantly in the victory, the big boy tripped through the line for one of the touchdowns, and heaved passes through the air with great regularity.

Richards Ends Career.

Captain "Tippy" Richards wound up his scholastic grid career yesterday afternoon with one of the finest exhibitions of playing seen this year, on top of almost every play in his position as backing up the line the young leader made his presence felt on more than one occasion and in addition he also tallied one of the touchdowns. Tommy Harper the line crusher was not called on to puncture the visitors line very often but when he did take the ball through it was generally good for a substantial gain. Harper was credited with a pair of touchdowns one after a run of about 25 yards and the other a plunge from the three-yard mark.

The New Castle forward wall was right out in front of the parade most of the time, it was the bull-dog tenacity of Ostrosky, Alexander and Thomas that repelled the visitors in many of their tries at the line. Mooney and DiCarbo were powerful in their defensive work and in stopping the Little Presidents from carrying out many of their well intended thrusts. Cuba played a whale of a game and covered himself with lots of praise in his punts from 35 to 45 and 50 yards with a mud-soaked pigskin. Craft at right-end was on top of almost every play and pulled down the visiting backfield men with regularity.

It was one of those do or die battles in the first quarter of the game, Captain Richards won the toss of the coin and elected to receive at the southern goal, Hammond kicked off for Washington and the conflict was on in earnest, Soon after the opening play New Castle worked the ball down to the five-yard line and was headed for what looked like a touchdown but the visiting team put up a stand that reminded one of those dying gladiator affairs and New Castle lost the ball after trying to outsmart the Washington team by throwing a forward pass on the fourth down. Washington tried to puncture the local line but met with a stiff resistance and finally Johnson who had replaced A. Lewis punted to Turk in mid-field.

With New Castle in possession of the ball on the 40-yard line the first play was a forward pass thrown by Earl Turk that gained 15 yards and waiting to receive the ball was Paul Reider, the fleet New Castle signal barker who grabbed the ball out of the air and sped toward the goal line with several of the Washington players hard pressing him, but he outdistanced the group of would-be tacklers and galloped over for the initial touchdown. The kick for extra point was blocked. New Castle 6, Washington 0. It was a beautifully executed pass and caught the visitors unprepared for the aerial attack.

Firt Quarter 6-0.

Stubborn play marked the remaining minutes of the first quarter with the teams battling on almost even ground and exchanging punts quite regularly. Johnson the Washington negro fullback found the going tough through the New Castle line, but Bryner and Berry had a little better luck in their stabs at the forward wall. The first quarter ended 6-0 with New Castle leading.

New Castle had passession of the ball on the 40 yard line at the start of the second quarter and it was not long until Richards had plunged his way for the second touchdown. Harper scooped up a blocked punt and raced about 25 yards to the five-yard line and Richards had his marker on the next play. Harper failed to plunge the ball over for the extra point.

Washington Threatens.

Washington again threatened on the next kick-off when Bryner took the ball and raced 15 yards before being downed. Bryner tossed a pass to Miller and the fleet footed Washington halfback went 42 yards through a broken field for one of the best runs of the day by the Little Presidents, but the visitors soon lost the ball on downs and Cuba kicked out of danger.

The visitors stopped in their thrusts at the line took to the air in their final minutes of the first half and completed several short gains. The score at the end of the frst half stood at 12-0 with the locals leading.

Washington received the ball at the start of the third quarter but found the going too rough and elected to punt, Hundermark kicking to Reider on the 25-yard line. The visitors came near to scoring at this particular time after gaining the ball on a fumble. Bryner and Miller alternated in 15-yard runs and placed the ball on the 19-yard line, but they lost it on down. New Castle had possession of the ball on the 19-yard line and elected to plunge the line instead of kicking, but the ball was fumbled and Hammond, the Washington left tackle, scooped up the elusive pigskin and made his way over the last chalked mark standing up. The try for extra point was blocked.

Harper Runs 65 Yards.

New Castle had another touchdown on the way after the next kick-off when Tommy Harper took the ball and aided by splendid interference made his way 65 yards through the Washington team to the 10-yard line before he was hauled down by Miller. Harper, Reider and Richards made successive stabs at the line and gained about three yards, and finally Turk carried it over the line. The kick by Reider for extra point was blocked. New Castle 18, Washington 6.

Near the end of the third period Reider again dashed off 25 yards and his second touchdown, after Washington had tried valiantly to gain thru the New Castle line and found it unyielding, finally punting to the 35-yard line. The end of the third quarter found New Castle leading 24 to 6.

Locals Get Safety.

Soon after the start of the fourth quarter New Castle gained nine more points via a safety and touchdown. New Castle had the ball on the 30-yard line at the opening of the final quarter and Reider clicked off a first down, but the Washington team offered stubborn resistance and New Castle was held for downs and Cuba punted to Washington on the 3-yard line. Hundermark attempted to kick the ball out of danger but it was blocked and Glenn Thomas, the New Castle center, pounced on it for a safety back of the Washington goal line. Washington brought the ball out to the 20-yard line and kicked to Harper, who mad his way back about 35 yards for the fifth touchdown. New Castle was awarded the extra point when Reider was tripped in an attempt to skirt the end. Score, New Castle 33, Washington 6.

Both coaches began to send an unending number of substitutes into the game at this juncture, and the boys who had battled for three periods through the mud were glad of a rest. New Castle tallied their sixth and final touchdown late in the fourth period as a result of a forward pass, Reider to Ostrosky, that placed the ball on the 5-yard line. Sillman hit center for two yards and on the next play Harper plunged through to the goal line. Sillman tried for the extra point kick but it was blocked.

Show Offensive Strength.

With practically second and third string men on the field in the final minutes of the fourth quarter there was no more scoring. The teams battled in mid-field and exchanged several punts.

There is no question but that the New Castle team outplayed the Washington gridders throughout the game, but it was no walkaway as the score would indicate. The visitors battled every inch of the way and were game to the core. As said before New Castle had the better ball-lugging outfit and supplanted it with a line attack that was the best seen here this year.

It was truly a football game all the way and the fans that filed out of the huge stadium after the game were of the opinion that they had seen two of the best scholastic teams in this section of the state in conflict and that the red and black warriors were justly deserving of victory. It was a fitting windup to a most successful grid season here.

Both teams lost one of their star players in a mixup and scramble that took place in the second quarter of the game. Angelo Mooney, the New Castle right guard, and Ernest Johnson, the big negro fullback of the Washington team, viewed the remainder of the battle from the bench. With Johnson in the game in the second half the visitors might have been a little more threatening.

The Army's Big Three — By Feg Murray

Ever since that November Saturday afternoon in 1890 when the Navy defeated the Army, 24 to 0, on the infantry plain at West Point, thus causing the Navy's most distinguished opponent of football, Admiral Stephen B. Luce, to give in in favor of the game, the annual contest between the two service teams has been one of the high lights of the season. The fact that the Army plays the Navy in New York on Saturday means a lot to about 80,000 who will witness the game, and quite a bit also to more than 800,000 who will listen in over the radio or read about the contest in the papers on Sunday morning.

And the game means a lot, too, to a Mr. Jones, a Mr. Wilson and a Mr. Mule. Other institutions have coaches named Jones—Yale and Southern California, for instance—and other schools have captains named Wilson, but when you get the combination of a Coach Jones, a Captain Wilson and a mascot named Mule, why, you have an almost unbeatable triumvirate. However, the Navy will back their great trio of Ingram, Hannegan and Goat against it on Saturday and hope for at least as good results as the fighting sailors achieved in Chicago in 1926—a 21 to 21 tie.

But to return to the firm of Jones, Wilson and Mule. Coach Jones' real name is Lawrence M., and he was assistant coach to John T. McEwan at the Point for three years. "Biff" played tackle and guard for the Cadets for three years, 1914, '15 and '16, and was elected captain for 1917, but the Army had other things to do than to play football games that fall.

Captain Wilson has been written up in these columns before and was well known at Penn State as the "Red Grange" of his time, before he entered the Army. Amos Aloysius Mule is probably the most famous hybrid in the world, as he has paraded before Presidents, Generals and Admirals, had his photograph in all the newspapers, and been ridden by Elsie Janis! As a side show to the Greatest Show on Earth, the Army-Navy game, Mr. Mule will attempt to kick Mr. Goat completely out of the Polo Grounds. Will the Goat meet de-feet? Yes—but!

Feg Murray Says—

Why not give the Army mule a commission—say above the captain's rank? Then you could call him a "Braying Colonel".

DAY STARS IN THIEL BATTLE

Thiel Loses To Grove City 18 To 0 At Greenville

GREENVILLE, Nov. 25.—Ralph Day proved a scintillating gridder in the defeat of Thiel by Grove City, 18 to 0, yesterday afternoon turning in two touchdowns while Holsinger added the third in a game that was filled with thrills until the last periods when Day's flashy playing in the open and the battering of Kemmer and Holsinger had weakened the line. Berkman, Patterson, Vassia, Packard and Montie played a good game for Thiel.

The lineup:

PRESIDENTS AND MOUNTAINEERS TIE

Whistle Apparently Prevents Each Team Making Touchdown

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 25.—In what was one of the biggest upsets of the grid season West Virginia held the Washington & Jefferson team to a 6-6 tie here yesterday afternoon. Although the Presidents outrushed the Mountaineers, the Mountaineers put up dogged resistance. In the first half the whistle ended the game on the Mountaineers' six-yard line and in the last quarter the game ended with the ball in West Virginia's possession on Washington & Jefferson's one-foot line. The lineup:

Expect Record Crowd To View Army-Navy Game

Two Mighty Fine Service Teams On Edge Today For Important Grid Clash

ARMY ELEVEN IS FAVORITE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—On the eve of the annual gridiron battle between the two service institutions, tickets to the Army-Navy game were quoted by speculators at $150 a pair today. Few tickets are in the hands of speculators, however, and thousands of optimistic fans who will storm the Polo Grounds tomorrow will be unable to purchase a pasteboard at any price.

It is estimated that nearly 700,000 requests for tickets were made. This breaks all records. The capacity of the Polo Grounds is only 75,000.

Both elevens will hold final workouts on the battleground today. Light work will be on the program.

The Army completed its preparations at home with a secret workout in the rain. Navy, at quarter, put the team through a passing and kicking drill. The scrubs, using navy plays, were unable to dent the varsity's defense.

The Navy eleven, which fears Army's passing game, devoted its final practice on the Annapolis gridiron to a defensive drill against forward passes. The Middies are pinning their hopes on Whitey Lloyd, their fast back.

Although the betting odds favor the Army to win, the West Pointers are far from overconfident as they realize the Navy has been pointing for this game for weeks. Both teams are prepared to wage a deseprate battle.

Washington Football Team Well Supported In Grid Battle Here

Estimate Upwards Of 1,000 Fans And Students Follow Gridders To New Castle

Moose Band Accompanies Special; Visitors Laud Treatment Received Here

The Washington High School football team in their Thanksgiving Day battle with New Castle at Ben Franklin High Field, was well supported by the home-town fans. It is estimated that upwards of 1,000 visiting fans came to this city via special train and automobile.

The Washington special pulled into New Castle about 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning after a two and half hour ride from Washington, said H. B. Horner, principal of the Washington High School.

The Moose Band of about 35 pieces accompanied the visitors on the special and enlivened the occasion with plenty of peppy music. On their arrival in this city the band marched to The Castleton and serenaded the Washington High gridders who were in the midst of their breakfast.

About 2 o'clock the visiting band paraded through the downtown section and up East Washington street to the Ben Franklin Field.

The New Castle High School band was on hand and going strong when the visitor reached the field, and the "battle of music" was on.

Reception and Dance

Following the football game the Washington High students, members of the Moose band, and the football team were honored guests at a big reception and dance held in the ballroom of the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and the affair proved highly successful from every standpoint. There was a feeling of sportsmanship and good will that permeated to every nook and corner of the spacious ballroom. The Washington folks were made to feel at home, and were extended every courtesy by the New Castle people.

The Washington special train pulled out of New Castle about 11:30 o'clock and would reach home about 2 o'clock it was figured. The reception and dance ended at 12 o'clock.

"New Castle will be given just as fine a welcome to Washington next year," said Principal Horner. Horner was loud in his praise for the treatment received here.

It was the initial meeting of New Castle and Washington on the gridiron and if the occasion can be taken as a criterion, next year will not be the last by any means. It was the finest Thanksgiving Day attraction that the High School, has offered for many years.

Pitt Likely To Play Stanford

Pitt Panthers Undefeated And Tied Once May Meet Stanford On Coast

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25. — Pitt's golden gridiron warriors will lineup against Stanford in California on New Years Day an undefeated team and tied only once during the season. The Panthers kept its slate clean by trouncing its ancient rival, Penn State, 30 to 0, in the annual Thanksgiving Day game, the last of the regular schedule.

Pitt now claims the undisputed championship of this district on the strength of West Virginia, which Pitt soundly beat, tying Washington & Jefferson, 6 to 6, at Morgantown yesterday. Pitt battled its neighbor, Wash-Jeff, to a scoreless tie earlier in the season.

Coach "Pop" Warner, of Stanford, who witnessed the Pitt-Penn game, left last night for Chicago.

GEORGIA UPSETS ALABAMA, 20-0

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK Nov. 25—Among the college football teams that may look around now with the permission of the fire commissioner choose their nearest exit and run toward the great outside taking plenty of air as they go, are New York University and Washington and Jefferson. As a result of yesterday's holiday games neither remains as a contender for national honors.

N. Y. U. died with its boots on in making a great fight against Nebraska before losing 27 to 18, but lose it did and to the loser belongs the garlic. This outfit was 19 points to the rear at half time but came back subsequently to make matters mildly interesting for a real good Nebraska team. There was no fatality in W. and J. case, just a major operation. They amputated its reputation when West Virginia which had been everybody's foot rest, got a 6 to 6 tie. You simply have to do more than that to West Virginia to rate national consideration even if you did finish your season undefeated.

Georgia Upsets Alabama.

Meantime, the other unscathed teams, Georgia, Pittsburgh and Tennessee escaped without the vestige of a scathing. Georgia alone in the glamour of an unbeated and untied status ran up 20 points on Alabama, subnormal this year but never too much so that it would fail to give any Georgia team a fight. It was the first time Georgia had beaten Alabama in six years.

Pitt of course blew a scolesess tie previously with W. and J. and therefore might be presumed to be no better than West Virginia provided you don't care what people think of your judgment. However W. and J. didn't beat Nebraska nor did it score by 30 to 0 over a first class Penn State eleven as Pitt did yesterday. If you are determined to talk about eastern champions you can start with Pittsburgh and be confident that you have presented your argument in a manner wholly logical. That 30 points yesterday was a great convincer from a Pittsburgh standpoint.

Tennessee's final contribution to a fine season was a 20 to 0 decision over Kentucky but the vols must run second in the south to Georgia at least until further notice. The latter may yet be served by Georgia Tech, which beat Alabama Poly 20 to 0. Further south by west as we say at the 12 mile limit, the Texas Aggies stepped themselves out in an impressive victory over Texas and just naturally run second to nobody down where the men grow big rapidly and sometimes troublesome.

Missouri Wins.

While Nebraska was dallying with those eastern strangers, Missouri made certain of a valley conference tie with the huskers by winning from Oklahoma 20 to 7. The latter scored first but he who scores last not to say more often, usually is the winner the way we count them on our comptometer. Meanwhile another valley team, Iowa State was making the Western Conference look none too dapper, achieving this effect largely by its own inadequacy. Having tied Illinois the Big Ten champion, early in the year it lost to Marquette by a large majority yesterday and now if you wish to be nasty you can figure just how good Wisconsin is or was.

On the western border Washington was hard pressed to score by a touchdown over Oregon but may have been saving something for Southern California. Offhand, one might say that Washington probably will need it.

The Pitt-Penn State game was the only one of national consequence played in the east, the rest of the pack having been beaten off long since. However there was no law to stop Colgate and Brown from having it out so they played a scoreless tie just to annoy everybody. Pennsylvania had no such consideration for Cornell. It used a passing attack to make the Ithacans look silly in the second period, run up 35 points in the first half and then called it an afternoon. Cornell rushed the passer to better effect in the last two periods and deserved the even break it got, but the dobie team was outclassed throughout.

Teh only major upset of the day was scored by Columbia over Syracuse, it being Columbia's custom to save all of its football for its final game by which time nobody cares particularly or at all.

If you must define a well-informed man, you might say he is one who knows the present status of Muscle Shoals and why.—The Ashland (Ky.) Daily Independent.

HALL OF FAME

Nominating Louis Gilbert.

Because as a punter he is without a peer in the Big Ten and can pass as well as kick.

Because after being out of the game on account of an arm injury, he returned to the Michigan line up for the Chicago game and enabled the Wolverines to win.

Because the combination of Gilbert to Oosterbaan rivals Michigan's great passing team of Friedman and Oosterban.

Because he is expected to prive a thorn in the side of Minneapolis when the Maize and Blue meets the Gophers in the final Big Ten contest of the year.

SERVICE TEAMS MEET FOR ANNUAL CLASH AT NEW YORK

Perhaps the most colorful event of the football season is the annual Army-Navy game. This year's game will be no exception. In the center of this picture you see how the Cadets look on parade before the game. Left to right are Captain Wilson, West Point, and Captain Hannegan, Navy. Upper, left to right: Born, end; Murrell, fullback; Harbold, end, and Sprague, star tackle, all of Army. Lower, left to right: Lloyd, star Navy end; Ransford, Schuber and Clifton, Navy back. Army appears to have the better team based on the fact that they have beaten Notre Dame, while Navy has lost to this team earlier in the year.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Profit-taking and professional selling of the motor stocks and specialties accounted for the reactionary tone in the stock market at the beginning of trading today. A few of the low-priced motor stocks moved forward aggressively under the lead of Paige Detroit and Continental Motors, the latter advancing about 2 points to 12, in active trading. General Motors was under pressure, and declined 2½ points to 126.

Centering their attack on General Motors, professionals in Wall Street poured out a large volume of selling orders in the first hours, on the theory that the time for reaction had come. Westinghouse, Radio, American Can and other leaders in Tuesday's violent uprush declined about 2½ points under the peak prices of the movement, DuPont lost 3 points, Houston Oil 2 and Industrial Alcohol 2½. Independent oil stocks sold at a lower range of prices, while New York City utilities continued the advance inaugurated earlier in the week. U S Steel and the independent steels turned downward in the second hour.

SORDS POINTS

He Believes In Keeping Busy

By JACK SORDS

The lightweight division is going full blast again. Sammy Mandell is ready, after a slumber that threatened for a time to out-snore the one taken by Rip Van Winkle, to allow someone to take a sock at the crown on his royal head. There is such a mad scramble among the contenders for a shot at the title that the days this division outranked the heavyweight class for popularity are recalled.

Among the contenders striving to wrest the crown from Mandell is Billy Wallace, hard-hitting Clevelander. So confident is Wallace that he can lick Mandell that he offered to fight the champ for nothing. He packs about the meanest right-hand wallop in the class, and was the one who started Sid Terris on his hit-the-canvas complex.

He was born June 21, 1901, in Dawson, Alaska, and started fighting in 1920. He surprised the boxing world last December with his knockout victory over Kid Kaplan, former featherweight champion. That seemed to be the fight that put him on the road that may land him on the top of the lightweight heap.

His idea in keeping fit is to keep fighting. He's always willing to fight anybody, any time, anywhere. He has agreed to meet Jimmy McLarnin, another conqueror of Kid Kaplan, in the near future.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

ROAMING AT LARGE, Nov. 25.—I find that Texas football fans figure that they have two or three stars in the Lone Star state who deserve consideration for mention on all-American grid teams.

One is Joel Hunt of the Texas A. and M. team.

Hunt is quarterback and captain of the team and the field general. His was the eleven that furnished perhaps the biggest upset of the season in the section by trouncing the Southern Methodist team 39 to 12. Texas was slated for a beating.

Another candidate is Gerald Mann, captain and quarterback of the Methodists. His brilliant play has helped make that team one of the outstanding one of the year.

A third man is "Rags" Matthews. Matthews plays end for the Texas Christian Union eleven. "Rags" trained a la Grange for the season, but went the Wheaton iceman one better. Grange lugged 200-pound cakes from a retail wagon on a milady's door. Matthews worked on a wholesale wagon and tossed 300-pound cakes around to the butcher, the baker, etc.

He is a versatile player, a beautiful defensive end and a heady player in forward pass offenses and defense.

* * *

Joe Pate, veteran pitcher who labored with Connie Mack's team for a while at the age when most pitchers are content to sit at home, is letting some of the zip in his old soup bone trickle into storage batteries over the winter. Runs a battery service station in his home town of Ft. Worth, Texas. Calls it a "left-handed battery station," too, which may or may not bear out the old belief that southpaws are left-handed mentally.

Pate, you'll recall, won nine games without being charged with a defeat while acting as pinch pitcher for the Athletics two years ago. He was with the Mackmen at the opening of last season but was finally turned back to Ft. Worth. There always has been somewhat of an air of mystery as to why Pate was let out, but Pate has never fed the flames.

Pate, incidentally is remembered hereabouts as a great football prospect in his high school days. His forward passing while with the Ft. Worth Central high school was spectacular—outclassing that of college players against whom he played at times.

His grid career in college was nipped in the bud when he turned professional as a baseball player.

SHIMMY SHAKER SHAKES HUBBY OFF

Gilda Gray, noted exponent of shredded wheat style of dancing, has shimmied herself away from her hubby, Gil Boag, according to the latest gossip from Hollywood, where Gilda's uplifting the art of motion pictures. Gilda's living in solitary state at an apartment, while Doleful Gil's playing solitaire at a hotel.

SLAYS SWEETHEART FOR "LOVE"

Joseph F. Buckley, 23-year-old youth of Waltham, Mass., is near death as a result of an attempt at suicide after he shot and killed his 19-year-old sweetheart, Grace Mills. He told police he "killed her because he loved her." They had agreed on suicide, he said. While out riding, she shot herself once, then begged him to end her agony, he declared. He shot her once, then shot himself. Photo shows Miss Mills and, inset, Buckley.

ESTABLISHES BACKSTROKE RECORD

A new national A. A. U. record for the 75-yard backstroke has been set by Howard Ploessel, of Los Angeles, pictured above. He swam the distance in 46 seconds flat, breaking the former national record of 48 1-5 seconds held by Harold Kruger, of the Illinois Athletic club.
